Deleuze and Memorial Culture Adrian Parr, 2008-03-11 Deleuze and Memorial Culture is a detailed study of contemporary forms of public remembrance Adrian Parr considers the different character traumatic memory takes throughout the sphere of cultural production and argues that contemporary memorial culture has the power to put traumatic memory to work in a positive way Drawing on the conceptual apparatus of Gilles Deleuze she outlines the relevance of his thought to cultural studies and the wider phenomenon of traumatic theory and public remembrance This book offers a revision of trauma theory that presents trauma not simply as a definitive experience and implicitly negative but an experience that can foster a sense of hope and optimism for the future

Encountering Nazi Tourism Sites Derek Dalton, 2019-08-05 Encountering Nazi Tourism Sites explores how the terrible legacy of Nazi criminality is experienced by tourists bridging the gap between cultural criminology and tourism studies to make a significant contribution to our understanding of how Nazi criminality is evoked and invoked in the landscape of modern Germany This study is grounded in fieldwork encounters with memorials museums and perpetrator sites across Germany and the Netherlands including Berlin Holocaust memorials and museums the Anne Frank House the Wannsee House Wewelsburg Castle and concentration camps At the core of this research is a respect for each site's unique physical architectural or curatorial form and how this enables insights into different aspects of the Holocaust Chapters grapple with themes of authenticity empathy voyeurism and vicarious experience to better comprehend the possibilities and limits of affective encounters at these sites This will be of great interest to upper level students and researchers of criminology Holocaust studies museology tourism studies memorialisation studies and the burgeoning field of difficult heritage

Neoliberalism, Postmodernity, and the Contemporary Memorial-Building Boom Nicola Clewer, 2022-06-06 The book develops a new approach to and a distinct reading of the contemporary memorial building boom which began in the 1980s. Locating the origins of this boom in the crises associated with postmodernity and the rise of neoliberalism, it analyses the complex interplay between neoliberalism, postmodernism, and nationalism in some of the most well-known memorials and memorial museums to have emerged in the USA and Germany over the last four decades. Rather than offering a survey of contemporary memorials, it traces a specific trajectory and certainly not the only one ripe for analysis from the postmodern memorials of the 1980s to the increasingly monumental and authoritative memorials and memorial museums being constructed today. Developing a distinct interdisciplinary approach, the book offers a critical analysis of the relationship between the memorials, the visitor experience they are intended to offer, and the understanding of history and our relation to it which underpins their philosophical, ethical, and political stance. Questioning the notion that contemporary memorials are ambiguous, non-ideological, and non-nationalistic, the book argues that they are engaged in rearticulating nationalism in line with the contradictory demands of the current conjuncture. As well as critically analysing the political function of national memorials, the book is equally concerned with interrogating the aesthetic means they employ with a specific focus on the way in which they mobilise the power of the sublime to generate particular affective responses. The book argues that contemporary national memorials reflect one of the most significant convergences between postmodern thought and neoliberal ideology, both project a permanent present, urging us to recreate ourselves in the light of existing conditions for there is no alternative.
