The New Africa Aurel Schulz, August Hammar, 1897      Dictionary Catalog of the Dance Collection New York Public Library. Dance Collection, 1974      Royal Correspondence of the Assyrian Empire Leroy Waterman, 1930      Transient Workspaces Clapperton Chakanetsa Mavhunga, 2014-09-19 An account of technology in Africa from an African perspective examining hunting in Zimbabwe as an example of an innovative mobile workspace In this book Clapperton Mavhunga views technology in Africa from an African perspective Technology in his account is not something always brought in from outside but is also something that ordinary people understand make and practice through their everyday innovations or creativities including things that few would even consider technological Technology does not always originate in the laboratory in a Western style building but also in the society in the forest in the crop field and in other places where knowledge is made and turned into practical outcomes African creativities are found in African mobilities Mavhunga shows the movement of people as not merely conveyances across space but transient workspaces Taking indigenous hunting in Zimbabwe as one example he explores African philosophies of mobilities as spiritually guided and of the forest as a sacred space Viewing the hunt as guided mobility Mavhunga considers interesting questions of what constitutes technology under regimes of spirituality He describes how African hunters extended their knowledge traditions to domesticate the gun how European colonizers with no remedy of their own turned to indigenous hunters for help in combating the deadly tsetse fly and examines how wildlife conservation regimes have criminalized African hunting rather than enlisting hunters and their knowledge as allies in wildlife sustainability The hunt Mavhunga writes is one of many criminalized knowledges and practices to which African people turn in times of economic or political crisis He argues that these practices need to be decriminalized and examined as technologies of everyday innovation with a view toward constructive engagement innovating with Africans rather than for them      Craft South Africa Susan Sellschop, Wendy Goldblatt, Doreen Hemp, 2002 In an African context there is really no distinction between craft and art This book is a visual celebration of South Africa s extraordinary wealth of handmade objects and the people who craft them      The Role of the States in Protecting the Environment United States. Congress. House. Committee on Energy and Commerce. Subcommittee on Environment and the Economy, 2013      Globalization and Contemporary Art Jonathan Harris, 2011-03-31 In a series of newly commissioned essays by both established and emerging scholars Globalization and Contemporary Art probes the effects of internationalist culture and politics on art across a variety of media Globalization and Contemporary Art is the first anthology to consider the role and impact of art and artist in an increasingly borderless world First major anthology of essays concerned with the impact of globalization on contemporary art Extensive bibliography and a full index designed to enable the reader to broaden knowledge of art and its relationship to globalization Unique analysis of the contemporary art market and its operation in a globalized economy      De arte , 1999

Between Union and Liberation

Marion Arnold,2017-07-05 The essays collected here investigate art made by women in South Africa between 1910 the year of Union and 1994 the year of the first democratic election During this period complex political circumstances and the impact of modernism in South Africa affected the production of images and objects The essays explore the ways in which the socio political circumstances associated with twentieth century modernity had a paradoxical impact on women If some were empowered others were disadvantaged while some were able to further their social and cultural development and expression the advancement of others was impeded The contributors study the lives and achievements of women named and un named black and white and from different cultural groups and social contexts and consider objects and images that are historically associated with both art and craft In all the essays gender theory is related to South African circumstances The volume explores gender theory in relation to twentieth century visual culture and discusses economic conditions and regional geographies as well as notions of identity It investigates the influence of educational and cultural institutions the role of theory on art practice debates about material culture the power of nationalist ideologies and the role of feminist theories in a changing country A wide range of visual images and objects provide the touchstone for debate and analysis paintings sculptures photography baskets tapestries embroideries and ceramics so that the book is richly visual and celebrates the diversity of South African art made by women
