, Ghetto Voices in Contemporary German Culture Maria Stehle, 2012 Illuminates tensions and transformations in today's Germany by examining literary filmic and musical treatments of the ghetto metaphor Accounts of how Germany has changed since unification often portray the Berlin Republic as a new Germany that has left the Nazi past and Cold War division behind and entered the new millennium as a peaceful worldly and cautiously proud nation Closer inspection however reveals tensions between such views and the realities of a country that continues to struggle with racism provincialism and fear of the perceived Other Mainstream media foster such fears by describing violence in ghetto schools failed integration and the loss of society's core values The city emerges as a key site not only of ethnic and political tension but of social change Maria Stehle illuminates these tensions and transformations by following the metaphor of the ghetto in literary works from the 1990s by Feridun Zaimoglu in German ghettocentric films from the late 1990s and the early twenty first century and in hip hop and rap music of the same periods In their representations of ghettos authors filmmakers musicians and performers redefine and challenge provincialism and nationalism and employ transcultural frameworks for their diverging political agendas By contextualizing these discussions within social and political developments this study illuminates the complexities that define Germany today for scholars and students across the disciplines of German European cultural urban and media studies Maria Stehle is Assistant Professor of German at the University of Tennessee Knoxville German/English

Rollefson, 2017-10-23 Hip hop has long been a vehicle for protest in the United States used by its primarily African American creators to address issues of prejudice repression and exclusion But the music is now a worldwide phenomenon and outside the United States it has been taken up by those facing similar struggles Flip the Script offers a close look at the role of hip hop in Europe where it has become a politically powerful and commercially successful form of expression for the children and grandchildren of immigrants from former colonies Through analysis of recorded music and other media as well as interviews and fieldwork with hip hop communities J Griffith Rollefson shows how this music created by black Americans is deployed by Senegalese Parisians Turkish Berliners and South Asian Londoners to both differentiate themselves from and relate themselves to the dominant culture By listening closely to the ways these postcolonial citizens in Europe express their solidarity with African Americans through music Rollefson shows we can literally hear the hybrid realities of a global double consciousness Schmidt's Jahrbuecher, 1868 bd.
