Product Data Interfaces in CAD/CAM Applications J. Encarnacao,R. Schuster,E. Vöge,2012-12-06 Interest in product data exchange and interfaces in the CAD CAM area is steadily growing The rapidly increasing graphics applications in engineering and science has led to a great variety of heterogeneous hardware and software products This has become a major obstacle in the progress of systems integration To improve this situation CAD CAM users have called for specification and implementation of standardized product data interfaces These needs resulted in the definition of preliminary standards in this area Since 1975 activities have been concentrated on developing standards for three major areas computer graphics sculptured surfaces and data exchange for engineering drawings The Graphical Kernel System GKS has been accepted as an international standard for graphics programming in 1984 Y14 26M IGES was adopted as an American Standard in 1981 and the VDA Surface Interface VDAFS has been accepted by the German National Standardization Institute DIN NAM 96 4 Although considerable progress has been achieved the complexity of the subject and the dynamics of the CAD CAM development still calls for more generality and compatibility of the interfaces This has resulted in an inter national discussion on further improvements of the standards The major goal of this book is to bring together the different views and experiences in industry and university in the area of Product Data Interfaces thereby contributing to the ongoing work in improving the state of the art

Object-Oriented Graphics Peter Wisskirchen,2012-12-06 At present object oriented programming is emerging from the research labora tories and invading into the field of industrial applications More and more products have been implemented with the aid of object oriented programming techniques and tools usually as extensions of traditional languages in hybrid development systems Some of the better known examples are OSF Motif News Objective C on the NeXT computer the C extension C and CLOS an object oriented extension of LISP All of these developments incorporate interactive graphics Effective object oriented systems in combination with a graphics kernel does it mean that the field of computer graphics has now become merely an aspect of the object oriented world We do not think so In spite of interesting individual developments there are still no sound object oriented graphics sys tems available If it is desired to develop a complex graphics application embed ded in a window oriented system then it is still necessary to work with elemen tary tools What is to be displayed and interactively modified inside a window must be specified with a set of graphics primitives at a low level or has to be written with a standardized graphics kernel system such as GKS or PHIGS i e by kernels specified and implemented in a non object oriented style With the terms GKS and PHIGS we enter the world of international graphics standards GKS and PHIGS constitute systems not mere collections of graphics primitives
