Castro Valley California:

Castro Valley Plan Alameda County (Calif.). Planning Commission, 1974      Urban Surfaces and Storm Runoff Robert Raburn, 1979      Legendary Locals of Castro Valley, Hayward, and San Lorenzo, California Doris Marciel, Hayward Area Historical Society, 2013 The Hayward area is a region in California made up of a city Hayward and two unincorporated towns San Lorenzo and Castro Valley The three communities share a common history but each has unique individual stories such as failed gold miner and entrepreneur William Hayward who established a stagecoach stop and boardinghouse in 1851 that quickly attracted a diverse group of settlers and led to the establishment of the city of Hayward Other legendary locals include Castro Valley historian Lucille Lorge whose grandfather owned the first business in Castro Valley English sailor Harry Rowell who jumped ship in San Francisco Bay and was later known as the King of the Rodeo for his rodeo stock and San Lorenzo Village developer David Bohannon who changed the San Lorenzo farming area into a sprawling suburban center and the first planned community during World War II      Castro Valley, California, 1988      Castro Valley Lucille Lorge, Robert Phelps, Devon Weston, 2005 An officer in the Mexican army bequeathed his name to the crescent shaped basin once known as Castro s Valley Driven to ruin by squatters drought and gambling debts he sold a portion of his cattle ranch to Methodist minister Zachariah Hughes who built a church and school in what is now Crow Canyon The one room redwood school Hughes christened Eden Vale educated about 50 children until a group from the burgeoning town to the south Hayward s stole it by wagon in the dead of night Undaunted Castro Valley delineated from its now friendly neighbors by hills Lake Chabot and an independent spirit built and fully supported its own Redwood School It has now developed into one of the most populous unincorporated areas in the United States      Rancho to Ranch Homes Richard Kelly, Jr., 2022-12 This 500 page book is a new telling of the history of the unincorporated community of Castro Valley California It narrates the story of the evolution of the town from a Spanish Mission grazing pasture to a large suburban bedroom community The history is told in equal measures by images maps and text This is the first history of the town that leverages the power of the modern internet allowing the discovery of photographs maps and stories previously hidden on musty academic library shelves or deep in county archives as well as making it possible to find ancestors of old timers and tap into their family albums and lore For the first time extensive use was made of the old Alameda and Contra Costa County squatter deed and mortgage records defining exactly who purchased what land when and at what cost Alameda County placed all of their maps going back to 1853 on line in 2016 this unmined treasure trove of historical data proved to be one of the key sources for the project All of the official US government records for the rancho confirmation court cases pertaining to town namesake Guillermo Castro and his neighbors the Estudillos and Sotos in the 1850 s are distilled into a chapter covering this sordid era in US history The overarching ambition of the work is to describe in detail each stage in the towns development and to explain why each change occurred when it did Growth spurts triggered by the gold rush the diaspora fleeing the great San Francisco

Earthquake in 1906 and the arrival of critical war workers during WWII are described in detail. Pioneers and key civic leaders are detailed in each stage of the community's development. One chapter illustrates the history of the many failed attempts to incorporate Castro Valley as a self-governing city. Surrounding communities are described where appropriate to provide context for the changes in Castro Valley. Several well-accepted stories about Castro Valley turned out to be apocryphal, including an officially designated California Historical landmark. This book sets the record straight. Castro Valley (California) Trip Journal Ralph Prince, 2018-11. Make Your Memories Last Forever.
