Philip Nel,2017-07-10 Racism is resilient duplicitous and endlessly adaptable so it is no surprise that America is again in a period of civil rights activism A significant reason racism endures is because it is structural it s embedded in culture and in institutions One of the places that racism hides and thus perhaps the best place to oppose it is books for young people Was the Cat in the Hat Black presents five serious critiques of the history and current state of children s literature tempestuous relationship with both implicit and explicit forms of racism The book fearlessly examines topics both vivid such as The Cat in the Hat s roots in blackface minstrelsy and more opaque like how the children s book industry can perpetuate structural racism via whitewashed covers even while making efforts to increase diversity Rooted in research yet written with a lively crackling touch Nel delves into years of literary criticism and recent sociological data in order to show a better way forward Though much of what is proposed here could be endlessly argued the knowledge that what we learn in childhood imparts both subtle and explicit lessons about whose lives matter is not debatable The text concludes with a short and stark proposal of actions everyone reader author publisher scholar citizen can take to fight the biases and prejudices that infect children s literature While Was the Cat in the Hat Black does not assume it has all the answers to such a deeply systemic problem its audacity should stimulate discussion and activism Mouse vs. Cat in Chinese Literature ,2019-03-18 In literatures worldwide animal fables have been analyzed for their revealingly anthropomorphic views but until now little attention has been given to the animal tales of China The complex competitive relationship between rodents vilified as thieves of grain and the felines with whom they are perennially at war is explored in this presentation of Chinese tales about cats and mice Master translator Wilt Idema situates them in an overview of animal tales in world literature in the Chinese literary tradition as a whole and within Chinese imaginative depictions of animals The tales demonstrate the animals symbolism and their unusually prominent and verbal role in the stories These readings depict cats and mice in conflict in marital bonds and in litigation most centrally in a legal case of a mouse against a cat in the underworld court of King Yama Many of the stories adopt the perspective of the mice as animals merely trying to survive while also recognizing that cats are natural hunters This entertaining volume will appeal to readers interested in Chinese literature and society comparative literature and posthumanist consideration of human animal relations The International Encyclopaedic Dictionary ... ,1901 Official Premium List of the Annual Championship Cat Show Atlantic Cat Club,1910 The Law Times Reports ,1926 The Vertebrate Fauna of North Wales Herbert Edward Forrest,1907 Significant Etymology James Mitchell,1908
