Chinatown Family:

Chinatown Family Yutang Lin, 2007 Lin Yutang 1895-1976 author of more than thirty five books was arguably the most distinguished Chinese American writer of the twentieth century In Chinatown Family he brings humor and wisdom to issues of culture race and religion as he tells the engrossing and heart warming story of an immigrant working class Chinese American family that settled in New York City during the 1930s and 1940s Tracing their sometimes troubled and sometimes rewarding journey Lin paints a vivid portrait of the wonder and the woe of settling into a new land In an era when interracial marriages were frowned upon and it was forbidden for working class Chinese men to bring their families to America this story shows how one family struggled to become new Americans by applying their Taoist philosophy to resist peacefully the discriminatory laws and racism they encountered Beyond the quest for acceptance and economic success Chinatown Family also probes deep into the heart of the immigration experience by presenting the perils of assimilation The burgeoning tension between the desire for material wealth and the traditional Chinese belief in the primary importance of family poses the question Is it possible to attain the American dream without damaging these primary ties For each family member the answer to this question turns out to be different Through the varied paths that each character takes the novel dramatizes the ways that Chinese immigrants have negotiated between the competing interests of economic opportunity and traditional values

Cities of Others Xiaojing Zhou, 2014-12-01 Asian American literature abounds with complex depictions of American cities as spaces that reinforce racial segregation and prevent interactions across boundaries of race culture class and gender However in Cities of Others Xiaojing Zhou uncovers a much different narrative providing the most comprehensive examination to date of how Asian American writers both celebrated and overlooked depict urban settings Zhou goes beyond examining popular portrayals of Chinatowns by paying equal attention to life in other parts of the city Her innovative and wide ranging approach sheds new light on the works of Chinese Filipino Indian Japanese Korean and Vietnamese American writers who bear witness to a variety of urban experiences and reimagine the American city as other than a segregated nation space Drawing on critical theories on space from urban geography ecocriticism and postcolonial studies Zhou shows how spatial organization shapes identity in the works of Sui Sin Far Bienvenido Santos Meena Alexander Frank Chin Chang rae Lee Karen Tei Yamashita and others She also shows how the everyday practices of Asian American communities challenge racial segregation reshape urban spaces and redefine the identity of the American city From a reimagining of the nineteenth century flaneur figure in an Asian American context to providing a framework that allows readers to see ethnic enclaves and American cities as mutually constitutive and transformative Zhou gives us a provocative new way to understand some of the most important works of Asian American literature

Chinatown around the World Bernard P. Wong, Chee-Beng Tan, 2013-03-21 The phenomenon of Chinatown has been of great interest to the general public as well as scholars Movies and story books have made Chinatown to be exotic mysterious gangster filled and sometimes a gilded ghetto an ethnopolis a cultural diaspora as well as a model community The authors of Chinatowns around the World seek to expose the social reality of Chinatowns with empirical data The authors also examine the changing nature and functions of Chinatowns around the world while scrutinizing how factors emanating from larger societies and other external factors have shaped Chinatown development and transformation The activities of the recent Chinese transnational migrants are also critically appraised The Routledge Handbook of Literary Translingualism Steven G. Kellman, Natasha Lvovich, 2021-09-30 Though it might seem as modern as Samuel Beckett Joseph Conrad and Vladimir Nabokov translingual writing texts by authors using more than one language or a language other than their primary one has an ancient pedigree The Routledge Handbook of Literary Translingualism aims to provide a comprehensive overview of translingual literature in a wide variety of languages throughout the world from ancient to modern times The volume includes sections on translingual genres with chapters on memoir poetry fiction drama and cinema ancient medieval and modern translingualism global perspectives chapters overseeing European African and Asian languages Combining chapters from lead specialists in the field this volume will be of interest to scholars graduate students and advanced undergraduates interested in investigating the vibrant area of translingual literature Attracting scholars from a variety of disciplines this interdisciplinary and pioneering Handbook will advance current scholarship of the permutations of languages among authors throughout time Transpacific Community Richard Jean So, 2016-05-31 In the turbulent years after World War I a transpacific community of American and Chinese writers and artists emerged to forge new ideas regarding aesthetics democracy internationalism and the political possibilities of art Breaking with preconceived notions of an exotic East the Americans found in China and in the works of Chinese intellectuals inspiration for leftist and civil rights movements Chinese writers and intellectuals looked to the American tradition of political democracy to inform an emerging Chinese liberalism This interaction reflected an unprecedented integration of American and Chinese cultures and a remarkable synthesis of shared ideals and political goals The transpacific community that came together during this time took advantage of new advances in technology and media such as the telegraph and radio to accelerate the exchange of ideas It created a fast paced cross cultural dialogue that transformed the terms by which the United States and China or more broadly West and East knew each other Transpacific Community follows the left wing journalist Agnes Smedley's campaign to free the author Ding Ling from prison Pearl Buck's attempt to fuse Jeffersonian democracy with late Qing visions of equality in The Good Earth Paul Robeson's collaboration with the musician Liu Liangmo which drew on Chinese and African American traditions and the writer Lin Yutang's attempt to create a typewriter for Chinese characters Together these individuals produced political projects that synthesized American and Chinese visions of equality and democracy and imagined a new course for East West relations Inside Los Angeles Chinatown Garding Lui, 1948 The Buddha in the Machine R. John Williams, 2014-06-24 The writers and artists described in this book are joined by a desire to embrace Eastern aesthetics as a means of redeeming Western technoculture The assumption they all share is that at the core of modern Western culture there lies an originary and all encompassing philosophical error and that Asian art offers a way out of that awful matrix That desire this book attempts to demonstrate has informed Anglo and even Asian American debates about technology and art since the late nineteenth century and continues to skew our responses to our own technocultural environment
