Constructing a Place of Critical Architecture in China Guanghui Ding, 2016-03-09 For the past 30 years The Chinese journal Time Architecture Shidai Jianzhu has focused on publishing innovative and exploratory work by emerging architects based in private design firms who were committed to new material theoretical and pedagogical practices In doing so this book argues that the journal has engaged in the presentation and production of a particular form of critical architecture described as an intermediate criticality as a response to the particular constraints of the Chinese cultural and political context The journal's publications displayed a dual critique a resistant attitude to the dominant modes of commercial building practice characterised by rapid and large scale urban expansion and an alternative publishing practice focusing on emerging independent architectural practitioners through the active integration of theoretical debates architectural projects and criticisms This dual critique is illustrated through a careful review and analysis of the history and programme of the journal By showing how the work of emerging architects including Yung Ho Chang Wang Shu Liu Jiakun and Urbanus are situated within the context of the journal s special thematic editions on experimental architecture exhibition group design new urban space and professional system the book assesses the contribution the journal has made to the emergence of a critical architecture in China in the context of how it was articulated debated presented and perhaps even produced within the pages of the publication itself The protagonists of critical architecture have endeavoured to construct an alternative mode of form and space with strong aesthetic and socio political implications to the predominant production of architecture under the current Chinese socialist market economy To rebel against certain forms of domination and suppression by capital and power is by no means to completely reject them rather it is to use thos

Chinese Architecture and the Beaux-Arts Jeffrey W. Cody,Nancy Shatzman Steinhardt,Tony Atkin,2011-01-31 In the early twentieth century Chinese traditional architecture and the French derived methods of the cole des Beaux Arts converged in the United States when Chinese students were given scholarships to train as architects at American universities whose design curricula were dominated by Beaux Arts methods Upon their return home in the 1920s and 1930s these graduates began to practice architecture and create China s first architectural schools often transferring a version of what they had learned in the U S to Chinese situations The resulting complex series of design related transplants had major implications for China between 1911 and 1949 as it simultaneously underwent cataclysmic social economic and political changes After 1949 and the founding of the People s Republic China experienced a radically different wave of influence from the Beaux Arts through advisors from the Soviet Union who first under Stalin and later Khrushchev brought Beaux Arts ideals in the guise of socialist progress In the early twenty first century China is still feeling the effects of these events Chinese Architecture and the Beaux Arts examines the coalescing of the two major architectural systems placing significant shifts in architectural theory and practice in China within relevant contemporary cultural and educational contexts Fifteen major scholars from around the world analyze and synthesize these crucial events to shed light on the dramatic architectural and urban changes occurring in China today many of which have global ramifications This stimulating and generously illustrated work is divided into three sections framed by an introduction and a postscript The first focuses on the convergence of Chinese architecture and the cole des Beaux Arts outlining the salient aspects of each and suggesting how and why the two met in the U S The second section centers on the question of how Chinese architects were influenced by the Beaux Arts and how Chinese architecture was changed as a result The third takes an even closer look at the Beaux Arts influence addressing how innovative practices new schools of architecture and buildings whose designs were linked to Beaux Arts assumptions led to distinctive new paradigms that were rooted in a changing China By virtue of its scope scale and scholarship this volume promises to become a classic in the fields of Chinese and Western architectural history Contributors Tony Atkin Peter J Carroll Yung Ho Chang Jeffrey W Cody Kerry Sizheng Fan Fu Chao Ching Gu Daqing Seng Kuan Delin Lai Xing Ruan Joseph Rykwert Nancy S Steinhardt David VanZanten Rudolf Wagner Zhang Jie Zhao Chen Chinese Architecture Today Interior Designer,2016-05-10 China is not only a playground for international architectural practices but has its own active architectural scene between international influences and China s rich building tradition Twenty six projects focus on this diverse output The range of examples includes the reuse of historic factory buildings experimental new buildings and new applications of old building materials such as bamboo Chinese Architecture, Past and Contemporary Gin-djih Su,1964 A Philosophy of Chinese Architecture David Wang,2016-12-08 A Philosophy of Chinese Architecture Past Present Future examines the impact of Chinese philosophy on China s historic structures as well as on modern Chinese urban aesthetics and architectural forms For architecture in China moving forward author David Wang posits a theory the New Virtualism which links current trends in computational design with long standing Chinese philosophical themes The book also assesses twentieth century Chinese architecture through the lenses of positivism consciousness phenomenology and linguistics structuralism and poststructuralism Illustrated with over 70 black and white images this book establishes philosophical baselines for assessing architectural developments in China past present and future Living Architecture: Chinese Michèle Pirazzoli-t'Serstevens,Nicolas Bouvier,Denise Blum,1972 A History of Architecture on the Comparative Method for Students, Craftsmen, and Amateurs Sir Banister Fletcher,Banister Fletcher,1921 C.Y. An Encyclopaedia of Architecture, Historical, Theoretical, and Practical Joseph Gwilt, 1876 Chinese Architecture and Metaphor Jiren Feng, 2012-05-31 Investigating the historical tradition of Chinese architectural writing from antiquity to the twelfth century Chinese Architecture and Metaphor reveals significant and fascinating social and cultural phenomena in the most important primary text for the study of the Chinese building tradition Unlike previous scholarship which has reviewed this imperially commissioned architectural manual largely as a technical work this volume considers the Yingzao fashi s unique literary value and explores the rich cultural implications in and behind its technical content Utilizing a philological approach the author pays particular attention to the traditional and contemporary architectural terminology presented in the Yingzao fashi In examining the semantic meaning of the architectural terms used in the manual he uncovers a systematic architectural metaphor wherein bracketing elements are likened to flowers flowering branches and foliage Thus pillars with bracketing above are compared to blossoming trees More importantly this intriguing imagery was shared by different social groups in particular craftsmen and literati and craftsmen themselves employed literary knowledge in naming architectural elements Relating these phenomena to the unprecedented flourishing of literature the literati s greater admiration of technical knowledge and the higher intellectual capacity of craftsmen during the Song Architecture and Metaphor demonstrates how the learned and unlearned cultures entangled in the construction of architectural knowledge in premodern China It convincingly shows that technical language served as a faithful carrier of contemporary popular culture and aesthetic concepts Chinese Architecture and Metaphor demonstrates a high level of engagement with a broad spectrum of sophisticated Chinese sources It will become a classic work for all students and scholars of East Asian architecture
