Reader's Guide to British History David Loades, 2020-12-17 The Reader's Guide to British History is the essential source to secondary material on British history This resource contains over 1 000 A Z entries on the history of Britain from ancient and Roman Britain to the present day Each entry lists 6-12 of the best known books on the subject then discusses those works in an essay of 800 to 1 000 words prepared by an expert in the field The essays provide advice on the range and depth of coverage as well as the emphasis and point of view espoused in each publication

The Rise and Fall of Modern Empires, Volume IV Martin Shipway, 2016-12-05 The collection of essays in this volume offers an overview of scholarly approaches to the ways in which diverse actors representing the colonised or the colonising nations or indeed the international community reacted to colonialism during the lifetime of the modern colonial empires or in their aftermath The coverage is broad in terms of geographical scope and historical period with articles on the major colonial empires in Asia and Africa and the imperial centres of Paris London and Berlin from the conquests of the late nineteenth century to the period of decolonisation The selection also reflects recent academic trends by focusing on countries whose colonial past and experience of decolonisation have been studied and debated with particular intensity such as Algeria Kenya and India The volume draws on previously published articles and book chapters by leading international scholars writing in or translated into English and includes a critical introduction which situates each essay in relation to recent debates in this dynamic and expanding field of study

Race and Gender in Modern Western Warfare David Ulbrich, Bobby A. Wintermute, 2018-12-03 This book fills a gap in the historiographical and theoretical fields of race gender and war In brief Race and Gender in Modern Western Warfare RGMWW offers an introduction into how cultural constructions of identity are transformed by war and how they in turn influence the nature of military institutions and conflicts Focusing on the modern West this project begins by introducing the contours of race and gender theories as they have evolved and how they are employed by historians anthropologists sociologists and other scholars The project then mixes chronological narrative with analysis and historiography as it takes the reader through a series of case studies ranging from the early nineteenth century to the Global War of Terror The purpose throughout is not merely to create a list of so called great moments in race and gender but to create a meta landscape in which readers can learn to identify for themselves the disjunctures flaws and critical synergies in the traditional memory and history of a largely monochrome and male exclusive military experience The final chapter considers the current challenges that Western societies particularly the United States face in imposing social diversity and tolerance on statist military structures in a climates of sometimes vitriolic public debate RGMWW represents our effort to blend race gender and military war to problematize these intersections and then provide some answers to those problems

The History on Film Reader Marnie Hughes-Warrington,2009 Offers readers an introduction to just under 30 critical and representative writings on the relationship between film and history These writings represent a combination of insights from film theory cultural studies historiography the history of cinema and film promotion and reception

Reader's Guide to British History D. M. Negotiating the End of the British Empire in Africa, 1959-1964 Peter Docking,2021-12-02 This book examines conferences and commissions held for British colonial territories in East and Central Africa in the early 1960s Until 1960 the British and colonial governments regularly employed hard methods of colonial management in East and Central Africa such as instituting states of emergency and imprisoning political leaders A series of events at the end of the 1950s made hard measures no longer feasible including criticism from the United Nations As a result softer measures became more prevalent and the use of constitutional conferences and commissions became an increasingly important tool for the British government in seeking to manage colonial affairs During the period 1960 64 a staggering sixteen conferences and ten constitutional commissions were held for British colonies in East and Central Africa This book is the first of its kind to provide a detailed overview of how the British sought to make use of these events to control and manage the pace of change The author also demonstrates how commissions and conferences helped shape politics and African popular opinion in the early 1960s Whilst giving the British government temporary respite conferences and commissions ultimately accelerated the decolonisation process by transferring more power to African political parties and engendering softer perceptions on both sides Presenting both British and African perspectives this book offers an innovative exploration into the way that these episodes played an important part in the decolonisation of Africa It shows that far from being dry and technical events conferences and commissions were occasions of drama that tell us much about how the British government and those in Africa engaged with the last days of empire

From the Colonial to the Postcolonial Dipesh Chakrabarty,2007 This volume addresses some of the key issues marking the process of decolonization in India and Pakistan It looks at decolonization as a long term process and highlights some of the historical complications involved in nations born under the aegis of the colonial rule evolving into postcolonial polities It concentrates on particular aspects of the social and political processes involved in the transition from the colonial order to postcolonial regimes The contributors include a range of distinguished scholars from North America the United Kingdom South Asia and Australia They approach the issue of decolonization in different but mutually reinforcing ways through constitutionalism sports regionalisms housing gender minority issues mass politics and class formation The contributors include Dipesh Chakrabarty David Washbrook Barbara Metcalf Ian Copland Gynaesh Kudaisya and Anumpama Rao Program of the ... Annual Meeting American Historical Association, 2004 The ASEAN Reader Kernial Singh Sandhu, 1992 Decolonizing Biblical Studies Fernando F. Segovia, 2000 Over the last quarter of a century the field of biblical studies has seen radical changes in the conception practice and teaching of biblical criticism In Decolonizing Biblical Studies Fernando Segovia analyzes the models and practices at work in biblical criticism and pedagogy in particular the emerging voices of the non Western world By exploring the principles that underlie all contextual readings of scripture Hispanic Latino a Black feminist and Third World he offers a powerful challenge to the dominant paradigms of biblical interpretation Book jacket A New Reader's Guide to African Literature Hans M. Zell, Carol Bundy, Virginia Coulon, 1983 International Review of Social History, 2005 Knowledge and Decolonial Politics, 2018-09-11 Knowledge and Decolonial Politics A Critical Reader offers the perspectives of educators and learners within current developmental settings highlighting the systemic barriers faced whilst trying to implement decolonial pedagogies and practices In the hope to challenge the dominance of Western Eurocentric thought in education and international development the authors of this book offer counter narratives to promote the use of embodied cultural knowledges and histories along with Indigenous perspectives in order to subvert Western knowledge systems which are inherently colonial in nature Changing education as we know it today requires creating spaces in which multiple knowledges can co exist and benefit from one another These spaces will ensure the continuity of decolonial practices and shape the intellectual politics of future generations Contributors are Olivia Aiello Nana Bediako Amoah Shirleen Datt George J Sefa Dei Chisani Doyle Wood Candice Griffith Mandeep Jaji Wambui Karanja and Lwanga G Musisi Program of the ... Annual Meeting American Historical Association. Meeting, 2004 Littcrit, 2006 The Uncertain Foundation Andrew Knapp, 2007-06-27 France's liberation was expected to trigger a decisive break both with the Vichy regime and with the pre war Third Republic What happened over three crucial years 1944-47 was an untidy patchwork of unplanned continuities and false starts along with fresh departures that defined France's future for the next half century Prepared by an international team of specialists The Uncertain Foundation analyses a complex process of regime change economic renewal social transformation and adjustment to a fast evolving world
