Devolution And Aging Policy:

Devolution and Aging Policy Francis G Caro, Robert Morris Deceased, 2012-10-12 Explore significant but often overlooked aspects of aging policy This unique addition to the literature on aging policy will help you understand devolution the decentralizing of service provision and the roles that state local government and private organizations now play in addressing the needs of our aging population It will show you how to initiate innovations and make positive changes in aging policy through state and local initiatives collaborations between the federal government and other government agencies public private collaboration and strictly private initiatives From the editors Around the world the ground rules are being questioned about the role of national governments in addressing domestic needs During the twentieth century in countries throughout the world central governments assumed major responsibilities for a wide variety of human needs Whether the concern was income security health housing or education interventions were premised upon convictions that a strong public sector role was essential and that major involvement of national governments was needed More recently a significant pattern devolution has emerged in many countries wherein these responsibilities have shifted away from national governments to regional and local governments as well as from the public to the private sector Thoughtfully divided into five sections that illustrate distinctly different forms of devolution this book first provides an essential overview of devolution and then examines its implications for vital aspects of service provision to the elderly In the United States in recent years the single greatest focus for devolution has been the transformation of income security protections for poor families The federal Aid to Families With Dependent Children program has been replaced by the Temporary Assistance to Needy Families program Devolution and Aging Policy examines that change and other important facets of the current climate of devolution including Medicaid financed long term care state sponsorship of services in retirement communities the implications of the Workforce Investment Act for the access of older workers to training at a state level to upgrade their work skills public private sector collaboration in long term care insurance long term care ombudsman programs what state governments can do to help elders make use of information technology property tax credits for seniors that are given in exchange for volunteering on the municipal level how an HMO can encourage and stimulate service coordination and more

Devolution and Aging Policy, 2002 Aging A-Z Carroll L. Estes, with Nicholas B. DiCarlo, 2019-04-10 This provocative intellectually charged treatise serves as a concise introduction to emancipatory gerontology examining multiple dimensions of persistent and hotly debated topics around aging the life course the roles of power politics and partisanship culture economics and communications Critical perspectives are presented as definitions for reader understanding with links to concepts of identity knowledge construction social networks social movements and inequalities With today's intensifying concentration of wealth and corporatization precarity is the fate for growing numbers of the world's population Intersectionality as an analytic concept offers a new appreciation of how social advantage and disadvantage accumulate and how constructions of race ethnicity class ability and gender influence aging The book s entries offer a bibliographic compendium crediting the salience of early pioneering theorists and locating these within the cutting edge of research social behavioral policy and gene environment sciences that currently advances our understandings of human development trauma and resilience Accompanying these foundations are theories of resistance for advancing human rights and the dignity of marginalized populations
