Empowered School David H. Hargreaves,David Hopkins,2004-12-23 The Education Reform Act 1988 and recent legislation aim to raise levels of pupil achievement in particular through the introduction of the National Curriculum and improved self management by schools For govemors heads and teachers bringing together these changes will require as part of the new partnership strategies for managing development and change to make the school more effective School development plans are a means of realizing this goal The distinctive feature of a development plan is that it brings together in an overall plan national and LEA policies and initiatives the school s aims and values its existing achievements and its needs for development By co ordinating aspects of planning which are otherwise separate the school acquires a shared sense of direction and is able to control and manage the tasks of development and change This book based on the DES project draws on the experience of LEAs and schools which have pioneered school development plans Besides giving advice on constructing and implementing a school development plan the authors provide a full and practical account of how planning and development need to be managed and what this implies for the way the school is organized at present They also describe how schools can be supported in this process and how development planning fits into current movements for school improvement and effectiveness

The School Improvement Planning Handbook Daniel L. Duke,Marsha Carr,William Sterrett,2012-12-27 Developing and updating school improvement plans is an annual ritual for virtually all school principals and their school improvement committees Still large numbers of schools continue to produce disappointing outcomes The authors believe that part of the problem is the result of plans that focus on the wrong targets and that rely on ineffective strategies for improvement To help principals and their school improvement committees develop and implement plans with a greater likelihood of success the authors offer a step by step process for school improvement planning They go on to pinpoint specific school improvement goals including raising reading and mathematics achievement building robust school cultures addressing the needs of English language learners improving instruction and reducing absenteeism and dropouts For each goal a variety of objectives and proven strategies is presented along with sample school improvement plans The book addresses the differences in planning to turn around a low performing school planning to sustain improvements over time and planning to move a good school to a great school

Unleashing Greatness - a strategy for school improvement David Hopkins, 2024-06-21 There is a paradox at the heart of contemporary school improvement and system change in education Why is it that despite the phenomenal increase in our recent knowledge about what works in schooling standards still lag behind expectations and school level performance is far too variable Unleashing Greatness addresses this paradox and concludes that unless we focus unrelentingly on the quality of teaching in both our small and large scale reform efforts current practice will never meet society's expectations Unleashing Greatness is a compilation of David Hopkins writing into one concise manual to provide an eight step strategy for unleashing greatness Introducing a rational and conceptual framework for pedagogic improvement that has the potential for generating an increasingly specific language for teaching and learning this book significantly aids consistency and precision in the quest for both excellence and equity for all students Written for school improvement activists particularly those who work in laboratory schools or who wish to emulate that ethos and way of working the author himself has located his professional practice for over forty years as well as this book in the middle of that triangle bounded by the vertices of practice research and policy

School Improvement Planning: What's Missing? University of California, Los Angeles, Center for Mental Health in Schools, 2005 Few would argue against the idea of planning and implementing improvements to the nation's schools This report contends school improvement planning processes have frequently not been conceived in ways likely to produce desired learning outcomes for many students The analyses presented in this report focus on a lack of attention to how schools do and do not address barriers to learning and teaching Planning guides reviewed for this report stress meeting the demand for standard based and result oriented school improvement primarily by elaborating on prevalent thinking about school practices rather than considering fundamental systemic change With a view to broadening the focus of planning the report includes a set of guidelines for a comprehensive component to address barriers to learning and teaching These guidelines provide a template for assessing what tends to be missing in school improvement planning guides The report also outlines major problems with the ways schools currently address learning behavior and emotional problems Six major recommendations are discussed

- 1 Every school improvement planning guide should have a focus on development of a comprehensive multifaceted and cohesive learning supports system which is fully integrated with plans for improving instruction at the school
- 2 Guidelines for school

improvement planning should delineate the content of an enabling or learning supports component 3 Guidelines for school improvement planning should incorporate standards and accountability indicators for each area of learning supports content 4 Guidelines for school improvement planning should specify ways to weave school and community resources into a cohesive and integrated continuum of interventions over time 5 Guidelines for school improvement planning should include an emphasis on redefining and reframing roles and functions and redesigning infrastructure to ensure learning supports are attended to as a primary and essential component of school improvement and to promote economies of scale and 6 Current initiatives for program evaluation and research projects should be redesigned to include a focus on amassing and expanding the research base for building and valuating such an enabling or learning supports component with a long range emphasis on demonstrating the component's long term impact on academic achievement Reforms in Hawaii and Iowa are described to illustrate movement in the recommended direction Five appendixes include 1 Summary of Analysis of New York City's School Improvement Planning Guide Performance Assessment in Schools System wide PASS 2 Summary of Analysis of the Boston Public School's School Improvement Planning Guide Essentials of Whole School Improvement 3 Guidelines and Quality Indicators for the Draft of Standards for an Enabling or Learning Supports Component 4 Hawaii's Quality Student Support Criteria and Rubrics and 5 Fulfilling a Promise Investing in Iowa's Future Enhancing Iowa's Systems of Supports for Learning and Development Contains 4 figures
