A. Hemantaranjan, 2015-05-01 Plant Physiology is in essence the foundation of plant molecular biology This volume would be tremendously a productive reference book for acquiring advanced knowledge by faculties post graduate and Ph D scholars in response to the innovative courses in Plant Physiology Plant Molecular Biology Plant Biotechnology Environmental Sciences Plant Pathology Microbiology Forestry Soil Science Agronomy Horticulture and Botany Crop Stress and its

Management: Perspectives and Strategies B. Venkateswarlu, Arun K. Shanker, Chitra Shanker, M. Maheswari, 2011-11-22
Crops experience an assortment of environmental stresses which include abiotic viz drought water logging salinity extremes of temperature high variability in radiation subtle but perceptible changes in atmospheric gases and biotic viz insects birds other pests weeds pathogens viruses and other microbes The ability to tolerate or adapt and overwinter by effectively countering these stresses is a very multifaceted phenomenon In addition the inability to do so which renders the crops susceptible is again the result of various exogenous and endogenous interactions in the ecosystem Both biotic and abiotic stresses occur at various stages of plant development and frequently more than one stress concurrently affects the crop Stresses result in both universal and definite effects on plant growth and development One of the imposing tasks for the crop researchers globally is to distinguish and to diminish effects of these stress factors on the performance of crop plants especially with respect to yield and quality of harvested products This is of special significance in view of the impending climate change with complex consequences for economically profitable and ecologically and environmentally sound global agriculture The challenge at the hands of the crop scientist in such a scenario is to promote a competitive and multifunctional agriculture leading to the production of highly nourishing healthy and secure food and animal feed as well as raw materials for a wide variety of industrial applications In order to successfully meet this challenge researchers have to understand the various aspects of these stresses in view of the current development from molecules to ecosystems The book will focus on broad research areas in relation to these stresses which are in the forefront in contemporary crop stress research

Engineering the Plant Factory for the Production of Biologics and Small-Molecule Medicines Domenico De Martinis, Rosella Franconi, Eugenio Benvenuto, Edward P. Rybicki, Kazuhito Fujiyama, 2017-04-27 Plant gene transfer achieved in the early 80s paved the way for the exploitation of the potential of gene engineering to add novel agronomic traits and or to design plants as factories for high added value molecules For this latter area of research the term Molecular Farming was coined in reference to agricultural applications in that major crops like maize and tobacco were originally used basically for pharma applications The concept of the green biofactory implies different advantages over the typical cell factories based on animal cell or microbial cultures already when considering the investment and managing costs of fermenters. Although yield stability and quality of the molecules may vary among different heterologous systems and plants are competitive on a case to case basis still the plant factory attracts scientists and technologists for the challenging features of low production cost product safety and easy scale up. Once engineered a plant is among the cheapest and easiest eukaryotic system to be bred with simple know how using nutrients water and light. Molecules that are currently being produced in plants vary from industrial and pharmaceutical proteins including medical diagnostics proteins and vaccine antigens to nutritional supplements such as vitamins carbohydrates and biopolymers. Convergence among disciplines as distant as plant physiology and pharmacology and more recently as omic sciences bioinformatics and nanotechnology increases the options of research on the plant cell factory. Farming for Pharming biologics and small molecule medicines is a challenging area of plant biotechnology that may break the limits of current standard production technologies. The recent success on Ebola fighting with plant made antibodies put a spotlight on the enormous potential of next generation herbal medicines made especially in the name of the guiding principle of reduction of costs hence reduction of disparities of health rights and as a tool to guarantee adequate health protection in developing countries.

Advances in Plant Physiology (Vol.15) A.

Hemantaranjan, 2014-12-01 In view of changes in the global environment it is important to determine and developing technologies to ameliorate metabolic limitations by biological processes most sensitive to abiotic stress factors warning crop productivity. It is reaffirmed that publishing the important Treatise Series has been undertaken with a view to identify the inadequacies under varied environments and to scientifically extend precise and meaningful research so that the significant outcomes including new technologies are judiciously applied for requisite productivity profitability and sustainability of agriculture. Besides this meticulous research in some of the very sensible and stirring areas of Plant Physiology Plant Molecular Physiology are indispensably needed for holistic development of agriculture and crop production in different agro climatic zones. Ardently this is also to focus upon excellent new ideas ensuring the best science done across the full extent of modern plant biology in general and plant physiology in particular. In Volume 14 with inventive applied research attempts have been made to bring together much needed eighteen remarkable review articles distributed in three appropriate major sections of Nutriophysiology and Crop Productivity Plant Responses to Changing Environment and Environmental Stresses and Technological Innovations in Agriculture written by thirty four praiseworthy contributors of eminence in unequivocal fields mainly from premier institutions of India and abroad. In reality the Volume 14 of the Treatise Series is wealth for interdisciplinary exchange of information particularly in the field of nutriophysiology and abiotic stresses for planning meaningful research and related education programmes in these thrust areas. Apart from fulfilling the heightened need of this kind of select edition in different volumes for research teams and scientists engaged in various facets of research in Plant Physiology Plant Sciences in traditional and agricultural universities institutes and research laboratories throughout
