Resources Svein Øivind Solberg,Maarten Van Zonneveld ,Axel Diederichsen,2024-08-20 Genetic diversity is the key to crop improvement and food security There are more than 1500 gene banks around the world and genetic resources are maintained in nature reserves and on farms Genetic diversity serves as the starting point for breeding crops with improved nutritional quality higher yields and better tolerance to abiotic and biotic stresses However genetic diversity also provides opportunities for diversifying farm and food systems Utilization depends on access to material and information However many gene banks experience backlogs in characterization evaluation regeneration viability tests plant health monitoring and information sharing This research topic focuses on advances in plant genetic resource conservation and utilization and environmental effects on growth The book The Plant Cell Cycle is a very timely contribution to this exploding field Outstanding contributors reviewed not only knowledge on the most important classes of cell cycle regulators but also summarized the various processes in which cell cycle control plays a pivotal role The central role of the cell cycle makes this

,Yoonkang Hur,2025-08-13 The family Brassicaceae consists of about 350 genera and 3000 species including many economically important edible and industrial oilseed vegetable condiment and fodder crops Many of these such as Chinese cabbage radish cabbage and rapeseed are cultivated worldwide as important crops The family also contains a rich source of agronomic and economic traits in its highly diverse wild germplasms making them ideal as model species for the investigation of elite traits With the progress made in sequencing technologies as well as the development of modern biotechnologies a great many genomes of Brassicaceae crop species have been sequenced and high quality chromosome scale assemblies were obtained which allows functional genomics GWAS and domestication analysis in these important crops These breakthroughs accelerated the investigation into the evolution of different Brassica species the functional revealing of important genes molecular marker assisted breeding and the application of gene editing technology on the germplasm resources of Brassicaceae crops
