Addiction Experience:

An Existential Phenomenology of Addiction Anna Westin, 2020-02-20 Existential phenomenology can be a particularly helpful philosophical method for understanding human experience Starting from the perspective of the subject it can clarify and problematize subtle everyday relations enabling greater insight into difficult situations Used by contemporary philosophers as a way of understanding the embodied experience of illness this method has been helpful for understanding physical illness in the medical humanities offering a fruitful way of reading the subjectivity of mental states An Existential Phenomenology of Addiction examines how the experience of addiction engages both mental and physical phenomena within the existence of a particular human life using the philosophy of Emmanuel Levinas and Søren Kierkegaard The book maps out an existential phenomenology of subject in relation Both Levinas and Kierkegaard use decidedly psychological and theological language to situate their philosophy discussing the subject through concepts of love otherness responsibility and hope while played out in a situation of anxiety suffering desire and revelation Combining existential phenomenological discourse with contemporary addiction discourse Westin argues that the concept of subject as addict as found in the Twelve Steps Program and disease models of addiction ought to be replaced with the free and relational identity of subject as addicted

Addiction and Spiritual Transformation Srdjan Sremac, Srđan Sremac, 2013 This study explores the relationship between addiction and spiritual transformation More specifically it examines how recovering drug addicts employ testimonies of conversion and addiction to develop and sustain a sense of personal unity and create meaning from varied experiences in life Drawing on 31 original autobiographies the book analyzes conversion and addiction testimonies in two European contexts Serbia and The Netherlands Series Religion and Biography Religion und Biographie Vol 22 Annual Review of Addictions and Offender Counseling, Volume IV Trevor J. Buser, Pamela S.
