Double Burden:

Obesity Meera Shekar, Barry Popkin, 2020-02-13 Obesity is a global ticking time bomb with huge potential negative economic and health impacts especially for the poor. As of 2016, an estimated 44 percent of adults more than two billion worldwide are overweight or obese, and over 70 percent of them live in low or middle income countries, dispelling the myth that obesity is a problem only in high income countries. The global obesity epidemic presents a formidable challenge to human capital acquisition, national wealth accumulation, and the goals of ending extreme poverty and boosting shared prosperity. Given the renewed global focus on human capital, its links to the obesity epidemic, and the growing evidence base for double and triple duty actions, there is both an urgent need for action and a great opportunity for engagement that will require both a whole of government and a whole of development partner approach. Countries and global partners need to act urgently to address this ensuing epidemic with emphasis on interventions that require corrective public action rather than one of individual responsibility.

Transforming Food Systems: Addressing Malnutrition and Inequality in Low- and Middle-Income Countries Juliana Souza Oliveira, Margarida Liz Martins, Catarina Santos Da Silva, 2026-01-09 The global food system has undergone significant transformations due to changes in economic and political status, the built environment, and lifestyle shifts, particularly impacting low and middle income countries. These changes have contributed to the emergence of pandemics such as malnutrition, obesity, and food insecurity, which are exacerbated by social and territorial inequalities. Space plays a crucial role in the distribution of goods and services, influencing the quality of human life and the inclusion or exclusion of communities. Current research highlights the need to address the social, structural, and commercial determinants of healthy eating to improve public health outcomes. Despite the recognition of these issues, food insecurity and malnutrition remain prevalent, affecting over a quarter of the global population and contributing to the rise in obesity rates. The agro-industrial food system, characterized by the high availability of ultra-processed foods, perpetuates these challenges by influencing dietary choices and exacerbating poverty and inequality. There is a pressing need for studies that consider local contextual characteristics to develop effective public policies that address these determinants and promote healthy eating. This research topic aims to explore the complex interplay between food insecurity, malnutrition, and the food environment in low and middle income countries. The objective is to provide a comprehensive overview of the latest findings, analyze existing data, and offer new perspectives on the challenges and opportunities within this field. By examining the local social, commercial, territorial, and structural determinants of healthy eating, the research seeks to identify effective policy interventions and measures that can strengthen food systems and environments, ultimately improving public health outcomes. To gather further insights in the context of low and middle income countries, we welcome articles addressing, but not limited to, the following themes: Assessment of food insecurity in different populations; Unhealthy food environments that promote malnutrition and/or food insecurity; Evaluation of the food environment across various dimensions; Strengthening food systems and environments to protect public health Nutritional status and the relationship between food insecurity and the food environment Food choices and their association with the food environment Policy interventions and measures around this topic Spatial analyses regarding the distribution of goods and services particularly in LMICs The State of Food Security and Nutrition in the World 2024 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, International Fund for Agricultural Development, United Nations Children's Fund, World Food Programme, World Health Organization, 2024-07-23 Six years from 2030 hunger and food insecurity trends are not yet moving in the right direction to end hunger and food insecurity SDG Target 2.1 by 2030 The indicators of progress towards global nutrition targets similarly show that the world is not on track to eliminate all forms of malnutrition SDG Target 2.2 Billions of people still lack access to nutritious safe and sufficient food Nevertheless progress in many countries provides hope of the possibility of getting back on track towards hunger and malnutrition eradication Implementing the policies investments and legislation needed to revert the current trends of hunger food insecurity and malnutrition requires proper financing for food security and nutrition Despite a broad agreement on the urgent need to increase financing for food security and nutrition the same cannot be said for a common understanding regarding how this financing should be defined and tracked The report provides a long awaited definition of financing for food security and nutrition and guidance for its implementation There are recommendations regarding the efficient use of innovative financing tools and reforms to the food security and nutrition financing architecture Establishing a common definition of financing for food security and nutrition and methods for its tracking measurement and implementation is an important first step towards sustainably increasing the financing flows needed to end hunger food insecurity and all forms of malnutrition and to ensure access to healthy diets for all today and tomorrow Impacts of Tropical Landscape Change on Human Diet and Local Food Systems Amy Ickowitz, Jeanine Rhemtulla, Laura Vang Rasmussen, Bronwen Powell, 2021-03-09 Sociology of Gender Neeraj Venkataraman, 2025-02-20 Sociology of Gender Comprehensive Guide embarks on a journey through the intricate landscape of gender and sociology We delve into the social constructions power dynamics and cultural influences that shape individuals experiences across the gender spectrum This guide serves as a resource for scholars students and curious minds exploring gender within sociology From foundational concepts of gender identity and expression to the exploration of institutionalized patriarchy each chapter offers thought provoking insights into key themes and theories We embrace the interdisciplinary nature of gender studies drawing from feminist theories queer studies and intersectionality fostering a deeper understanding of how gender intersects with race class sexuality and other social categories Our guide highlights the evolution of feminist movements and the ongoing struggle for gender equity emphasizing the importance of dismantling oppressive structures We tackle issues such as sexism misogyny and the impact of heteronormativity while celebrating diverse gender identities and queer theory contributions Sociology of Gender Comprehensive Guide encourages readers to question societal norms challenge stereotypes and engage in meaningful
