Pestilence in Medieval and Early Modern English Literature Byron Lee Grigsby, 2004-08-02 Pestilence in Medieval and Early Modern English Literature examines three diseases leprosy bubonic plague and syphilis to show how doctors priests and literary authors from the Middle Ages through the Renaissance interpreted certain illnesses through a moral filter Lacking knowledge about the transmission of contagious diseases doctors and priests saw epidemic diseases as a punishment sent by God for human transgression Accordingly their job was to properly read sickness in relation to the sin By examining different readings of specific illnesses this book shows how the social construction of epidemic diseases formed a kind of narrative wherein man attempts to take the control of the disease out of God s hands by connecting epidemic diseases to the sins of carnality Pestilence in Medieval and Early Modern English Literature Bryon Lee Grigsby, 2004 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company The Deviation and Restoration of the Human Race Theodore Verheven, 2006 This book was written to inform those who want to know about themselves not only about their physical and psychological aspects but also of the most important spiritual or divine aspect of their being This writing also explains how to develop one s dormant psychic senses and to understand psychic senses and to understand psychic phenomena as written in the Holy Bible It further explains how individuals survive physical death and what kind of life they experience in the hereafter This manuscript goes into much detail about the differences between love and lust and why marriages are breaking up Humans who want to be good are often acting in an evil way not knowing what evil is and how it originated This work explains how God as Parent has been desperately trying to restore the human race so that it will no longer mourn the agony of life This book is trying to assist those to find the spiritual treasures they are looking for and to become of God
