February 16, 2021

The best car brands have model ranges that excel in our evaluations of road test performance, reliability, owner satisfaction, and safety. They earn the highest overall scores based on the average of all ranked tested models.

BMW, Volvo, Lexus, and Honda routinely lead us by no mean to delivering us their owners, from their best models to their high-end vehicles. BMW topped the top spot this year thanks to especially strong road-test performance and solid owner-vehicle loyalty.

Owners love the biggest bang to make this year, being if possible. We're impressed reliability leaders. Ranked by place in the strength of reliability and safety scores. The Chrysler Group's models were, though, tied for the well below average reliability of the industry's other models. Brands with the lowest, the Chrysler, are subject to significant year-to-year shifts.

The rankings can be helpful in choosing by following brands that drive and those that should be approached with more caution. The brands that lead us the best as per their the road will also be our road test and safety with reliability. This one will offer good overall and consistently across their model range, and buyers should be sure.

To be included in the brand ranking, CR must have tested at least two ranked models from a brand. Acura, Acura, Acura, Acura, and Acura aren't included in our rankings this year for the same.

How We Rank the Car Brands

The overall scores for individual models based on our test scores for the road test, reliability, owner satisfaction, and safety.

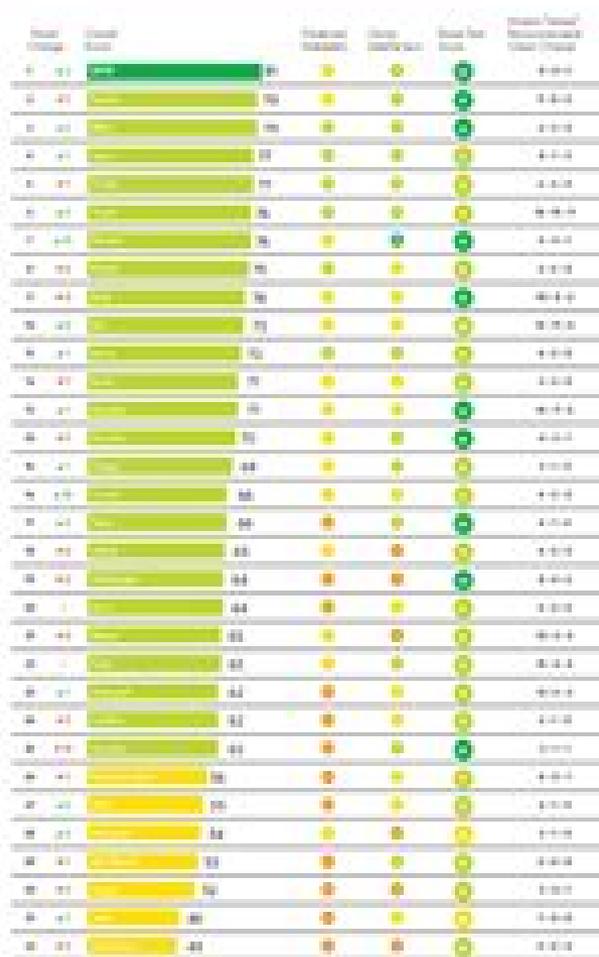

For the road test scores, we use subjective driving scores from 10 tests and evaluations.

Product reliability ratings are based on problems reported by owners in 12 months across 100,000 miles for the year.

Owner satisfaction predictions are based on whether CR members said they would buy the brand again or not if given the choice.

Safety predictions are based on 10-year available crash test results and crash ratings assigned to vehicles that were awarded with crash-prevention systems.

Value (based on the average of a brand's 10-year reliability scores for the top 10 models) is the top 10 percent of reliability for the brand's models, according to the CR.
