Annees Vingt:

Théâtre et cinéma années vingt Claudine Amiard-Chevrel,1990 Les créateurs d'aujourd'hui metteurs en scène acteurs de coréateurs auteurs passent facilement de la scène à l'écran ou vice versa la recherche d'autres modes de création et de narration de techniques et de contacts différents voire de remise en cause Un retour aux racines de ce siècle finissant d couvrir les premières manifestations de ces étroites relations permet d analyser leur fonctionnement Le cinéma naît alors que le vieux théâtre s'est déjà engagé travers une critique du réalisme académique dans la voie du renouvellement radical de ses formes Souvent la polémique s'embrace Enfant de la technique et attraction foraine tout la fois le cinéma cherche à se manifester du poids et de la tutelle de la scène qui lui fournit pourtant du prêt à filmer Et celle-ci qui craint sa concurrence pourra le dévaloriser en lui déniant toute qualité artistique la relation conflictuelle se substitue très vite un réseau serré d'influences réciproques nées de l'expérimentation de l'change des circulations emprunts ou impropriations Ce sont des artistes venus des variétés ou de la scène d'avant-garde Chaplin Buñuel Eisenstein qui portent le muet son sommet Le cinéma qui transforme le regard du public de théâtre est une école pour les hommes de la scène Il s'affirme comme un art partiellement capable s'il le faut de transposer des pièces en films originaux Ren Clair Le théâtre en révolution s'enrichit son propre contact d'un bagage nouveau fait clater ses propres limites Brecht Meyerhold K H Martin Et tous deux s'emparent des grands mythes contemporains masses en scène masses à l'écran Deux volumes qui traitent des interactions fécondes entre ces deux arts au début du siècle dans une confrontation des pratiques des aires culturelles et des angles d'approches avec pour temps fort le carrefour capital des années vingt

Les Années folles Zbigniew Folejewski,1981 Europa! Europa? Sascha Bru,2009 Biographical note Sascha Bru Genth University Belgium Peter Nicholls University of Sussex UK Bulletins Et Mémoires de la Société Médicale Des Hôpitaux de Paris,1925 The Twenties Groupe de recherche et d'études nord-américaines (France),1982 La pénétration allemande du Moyen-Orient 1919-1939 A. Fleury,2024-09-02 Now Vincent Lavoie,2003-01-01 While the crisis that took place in photojournalism during the 1960s brought about a significant shift in the practices discourses and institutional structures of press photography it also affected the practices of artists specifically with regard to work devoted to revitalizing the depiction of events The art world attempted to revitalize the historical genre by undertaking its critical rereading in the spirit of restoring a tradition diminished by the mass media The problem may be expressed in these terms How can history be depicted bearing in mind that the media mainly photojournalism and the electronic press have claimed a monopoly of the genre unto themselves At issue is the sizeable problem of mass media omnipotence as an obligatory referential universe for historiographical artistic practices Today it seems impossible to depict the event in any way other than by accentuating or eschewing the formal attributes rhetorical artifices and ideological precepts of the mass media These approaches to addressing historical moments have been examined in this article both because they epitomize contemporary historical writing and for the most part they constitute critical responses to stereotyped depictions of events Above all they represent a paradigm shift the mass media's prerogatives for depicting historical moments has shifted towards the field of art. Contemporary depictions of catastrophe, crimes, sensationalist news items, terrorist attacks, humanitarian disasters, genocides, common themes in many of the artistic projects represented in the 8th edition of the Mois de la Photo à Montréal have been especially striking in this respect. For of all contemporary events, catastrophes are the most likely to be spontaneously propelled to the top of the news roster and the most susceptible to the various inflections of contemporary art photography.

Beyond Given Knowledge Harri Veivo, Jean-Pierre Montier, Françoise Nicol, David Ayers, Benedikt Hjartarson, Sascha Bru, 2017-12-18. The effort to go beyond given knowledge in different domains: artistic, scientific, political, metaphysical, is a characteristic driving force in modernism and the avant-garde. Since the late 19th century, artists and writers have frequently investigated their medium and its limits, pursued political and religious aims, and explored hitherto unknown physical, social, and conceptual spaces, often in ways that combine these forms of critical inquiry into one and provoke further theoretical and methodological innovations. The fifth volume of the EAM series casts light on the history and actuality of investigations, quests, and explorations in the European avant-garde and modernism from the late 19th century to the present day. The authors seek to answer questions such as: How have modernism and the avant-garde appropriated scientific knowledge, religious dogmas, and social conventions, pursuing their investigation beyond the limits of given knowledge and conceptions? How have modernism and avant-garde created new conceptual models or representations where other discourses have allegedly failed? In what ways do practices of investigation, quest, or exploration shape artistic work or the formal and thematic structures of artworks?
