

How to hold a camera

It's worth taking a few minutes to practise holding your camera before you start shooting – you'll get sharper shots

FINGER

The camera body is designed to be gripped with your right hand and your index finger over the shutter release. You should be able to squeeze the shutter when it's time to take a picture.

HAND

Place your palm in your left hand. This should allow you to hold the front of the camera against your face with the hand holding your right hand for the camera.

ELBOWS

Turn your elbows into your body to brace your camera steady. The further out your elbows are, the more unstable you will be.

EYEBROW CONTACT

Let the camera rest on your eye and rest the shoulder against your forehead. This helps another point of contact on the body for more stability.

PORTRAIT

If you're used to holding your camera in portrait orientation, turn it over so the smaller lens is at the top. It can be a little awkward when you're not used to shooting in portrait.

LEGS

Place your feet with your feet in front of your feet. Feet should be shoulder-width apart. Feet should be shoulder-width apart.

TAKE A MAT

When kneeling to take some pictures, you might get on a mat. Take a mat or a piece of fabric to kneel on for comfort while shooting your photos.

BACK PANEL CONTROL

With your hands in the correct position, your thumb is well placed to access the controls on the back of the camera. Use the shooting settings.

BRING ONE LEG UP

By sitting down with a kneeling position and bringing one leg up, you can rest your body into a more stable position. Place your elbow on your knee to connect your leg and arm together, creating a second point of contact with the ground.

BEST ELBOWS

If you have a camera around your neck, rest your elbows on a flat steady surface. Look for steady surfaces, such as a table or wall.

CONTROL YOUR BREATHING

Remember when you take a shot? If you hold your breath or breathe in, you'll find your most important shot. It's important to breathe in and out before taking your picture.

LEAN IN

Leaning against a wall or table instead of holding your camera. This can be useful when shooting in a tight space without a tripod.
