Collecting, Curating, and Researching Writers' Libraries Richard W. Oram, 2014-05-21 Academic collection practices in recent years have extended to the private libraries of notable individual authors As a consequence book historians have become more interested in the study of provenance of the contents of these libraries while literary scholars have devoted more attention to authorial annotations At the same time the Internet has encouraged both scholarly and hobbyist reconstructions of private libraries see for example the Legacy Libraries on Librarything.com Although there are many bibliographies and reconstructions of the libraries of authors this is the first general consideration of these libraries and serves as an introduction to best practices for academic libraries in their acquisition cataloging and issues of access This collection begins with principal editor Richard Oram's historical overview of writers' libraries and institutional collecting focusing primarily on English language authors The co-editor Joseph Nicholson has provided a definitive review of best cataloging and arrangement practices that facilitate scholarly access The bookseller Kevin Mac Donnell discusses the marketing of these collections and obstacles to placing intact author libraries in institutions Also included are case studies by Amanda Golden and David Faulds relating to the personal libraries of the poets Anne Sexton and Ted Hughes indicating how these collections have the potential to enhance archival research Fiction writers Iain Sinclair Russell Banks Jim Crace poet Ted Kooser and biographer Ron Powers describe their sometimes passionate relationship with books and their own personal libraries The concluding chapter a location guide to over 500 individual libraries will be invaluable to scholars and librarians who want to know where writers libraries are currently located what happened to them if they are known to have been sold or dispersed and what has been written about them

Heidegger on Technology Aaron James Wendland, Christopher Merwin, Christos Hadjioannou, 2018-09-13 This collection offers the first comprehensive and definitive account of Martin Heidegger's philosophy of technology It does so through a detailed analysis of canonical texts and recently published primary sources on two crucial concepts in Heidegger's later thought Gelassenheit and Gestell Gelassenheit translated as releasement and Gestell often translated as enframing stand as opposing ideas in Heidegger's work whereby the meditative thinking of Gelassenheit counters the dangers of our technological framing of the world in Gestell After opening with a scholarly overview of Heidegger's philosophy of technology as a whole this volume focuses on important Heideggerian critiques of science technology and modern industrialized society as well as Heidegger's belief that transformations in our thought processes enable us to resist the restrictive domain of modern techno scientific practice Key themes discussed in this collection include the history development and defining features of modern technology the relationship between scientific theories and their technological instantiations the nature of human agency and the essence of education in the age of technology and the ethical political and environmental impact of our current techno scientific customs This volume also addresses the connection between Heidegger's critique of technology and his involvement with the Nazis Finally and with contributions from a number of renowned Heidegger scholars the original essays in this collection will be of great interest to students of Philosophy Technology Studies the History of Science Critical Theory Environmental Studies Education Sociology and Political Theory
