Literary Geographies and the Work of David Ireland Brett Heino,2025-08-30 This book explores the spatiality of post World War II Australian society through the vehicle of David Ireland s literature Employing concepts from radical geography and structural Marxist literary theory it posits the existence of a spatial unconscious of literary texts whereby they encode the spatiality of the society into which they are born By mining the spatial unconscious of Ireland s texts we can create a complex unique and highly fertile atlas of the spaces and places of Australia In particular Ireland s works ideologically handle the contradictory relationship between capitalism s regime of abstract space rooted in the production process and the state and the meaningful social places that can be forged out of the struggle of social forces including workers lumpenproletarians women and indigenous peoples In the midst of the contemporary spatial crisis this study of Ireland is a form of mapping creating an atlas by which we might plot our past and present and orient ourselves to the future Australian Literary Manuscripts in North American Libraries Nan Bowman Albinski,1997 Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English Eugene Benson,L.W. Conolly,2004-11-30 Post Colonial Literatures in English together with English Literature and American Literature form one of the three major groupings of literature in English and as such are widely studied around the world Their significance derives from the richness and variety of experience which they reflect In three volumes this Encyclopedia documents the history and development of this body of work and includes original research relating to the literatures of some 50 countries and territories In more than 1 600 entries written by more than 600 internationally recognized scholars it explores the effect of the colonial and post colonial experience on literatures in English worldwide
