Communication Basics For Human Service Professionals:

Communication Basics for Human Service Professionals Elam Nunnally, Caryl Moy, 1989-04-01 Over the past two decades great strides have been made in the development of communication frameworks information theory communication skills and techniques for problem solving This volume brings these developments to the attention of human service practitioners and students and provides a foundation in communication principles and skills Focusing on the basic knowledge and skills necessary for effective interviewing the authors cover such basic topics as awareness self disclosure giving and responding to feedback listening non verbal messages problem solving and conflict resolution Understand Social Agency Armand Lauffer, 1984-11 This revised and expanded Second Edition of the widely read Understanding Your Social Agency offers students and practitioners a simple yet comprehensive introduction to organizational theory and its meaning for social agencies Each of the first ten chapters is devoted to a particular perspective for understanding the agency The final chapter considers using each of the ten perspectives independently or in tandem to solve problems within or on behalf of the agency It will be a useful guide to solving problems of an organizational nature within an agency The Social Work Interview Alfred Kadushin, Goldie Kadushin, 1997-03-04 For twenty five years The Social Work Interview has been the textbook of choice in social work and other human service courses as well as an essential professional resource for practitioners This new edition the first in seven years is thoroughly updated revised expanded and reorganized for more thorough coverage and for more effective teaching and learning New to this edition Thoroughly reorganized chapters and sections for greater coherence and clarity More extensive literature review Greater emphasis on the process of communication and its role in interviewing New or greatly expanded coverage of interviewing short term involuntary and other special clients Expanded coverage of techniques for bridging racial and ethnic differences Greater coverage of interviewer interviewee differences related to class race and gender Chapter end summaries throughout Practice of Case Management David P. Moxley, 1989 The Practice of Case Management in the Human Services offers a succinct yet comprehensive guide to carrying out a case manager's responsibilities The author explores assessment of the service needs of the client facilitating the client's contact with the appropriate institutions and services monitoring the quality of services provided to the client and taking action when the client's needs are not met He also considers the therapeutic role required when needs are not met because the problems are indigenous to the client Providing an integrated look at practice technologies applicable to a variety of practice areas the volume is appropriate for both preservice and inservice education in the field of human service A Guidebook to Human Service Professions William George Emener, Michael A. Richard, John J. Bosworth, 2009 The twenty one all new chapters in this second edition poignantly review a variety of different careers designed for individuals undecided about their future beyond a desire or a calling to work with people and provide excellent cutting edge information about a large variety of human service professions and occupations wrapped in the authors real passion for helping people Part I discusses some of the tangible and intrinsic reasons why people want to be human service professionals and defines and discusses career choice and human service as well as the concepts of career job and PR Needs Assessment Keith A. Neuber,1980 The Community Oriented Needs Assessment CONA model presented by the authors demonstrates that effective two way communication between providers of human services and the community is necessary for effective and efficient social services The CONA model uses data from demographic statistical profiles key informants and random community members to define needed services to develop programs to enhance interagency cooperation and to improve accountability The authors both outline the logic behind the use of this model and sketch a step by step approach for developing the model for use in a variety of settings Proposal Writing Soraya M. Coley,Cynthia A. Scheinberg,2008 This book is written primarily for students or beginning to moderately experienced grantwriters working in nonprofit corporations school districts or city or county agencies and provides a step by step guide to writing a successful grant proposal The third edition has been retitled Proposal Writing The New Grantsmanship and Funding Strategies because the authors have broadened their scope while still maintaining the aspects that made the previous editions bestsellers A new organization provides greater coherence and logic in the presentation of the chapters Throughout the book readers are presented with agency organizational analyses using a conceptual framework that is tied to a theoretical perspective about the desired outcomes This framework provides the coherence for the book and assists individuals with the mechanics of writing and challenges them to understand why a particular strategy and with what desired and measurable outcome are they seeking The book also conveys the new grantsmanship which is essential for navigating the economic political and social dimensions of proposal and grant writing

Human Services and the Media Edward Allan Brawley,2025-11-14 An informed and supportive public at large is critical to the success of programs promoting physical and mental health and the mass media are the most powerful means of reaching the public Yet few human services professionals know how to tap into this power First published in 1995 Human Services and the Media demonstrates how to work with newspapers magazines radio and television to promote social programs and shape public policy It includes numerous examples of how cooperative efforts with the media have improved the public's understanding of the helping profession educated the community about social problems and spread preventive messages This book is a must read for students of social work Practice Wisdom Donald F. Krill,1990 Providing a programme to generate personal awareness and growth this book is aimed at practitioners and students in the helping professions Describing learning experiences such as the use of journals practice in dyads and role play Krill demonstrates how these help the student understand how his or her individual identity contributes to learning He also discusses creativity suggests ways of breaking out of the constraints of categorical thinking and provides a model for training Resources in Education ,1996-04 Human Service Education ,1999 Social Work ,1990 Teamwork in Human Services Howard G. Garner,Fred P. Orelove,1994 This book provides an in depth analysis of the critical issues in teamwork in human services organizations and a complete discussion of four models of teamwork The book includes discussion and analysis of teams in action in settings dealing with all age groups This book is designed for both graduate students and practicing professionals It serves as a textbook for interdisciplinary courses in both university courses and in service training experiences

Communications Skills for the Human Services Karin Eriksen,1979 Managing Health and Human Services Programs Stephen L. White,1981 Abstract A practical guide for new or would be managers of health and social service programs covers all aspects of human service management The guide is designed to help those with clinical or technical expertise bridge the gap as they cross over into the role of a manager and become effective in that role Topics discussed include organization and leadership decision making program development planning and evaluation financial management and budgeting and personnel management The techniques and basic concepts of each topic are described The appendix contains a listing of training resources kbc Lifelong Teaching David J. Eagan,1996 An Introduction to Human Services Marianne Woodside,Tricia McClam,1994 Presenting human services from the unique perspective of human services as a profession this text helps students gain a perspective of human services that is broad and dynamic and yet clear and tangible enough that they can see career possibilities for themselves Human Service Organizations ,1974 Whitaker's Book List ,1989 Child & Adult Care Professionals Karen Jo Stephens,Maxine Hammond-Smith,2004 Child Adult Care Professionals is an occupational program preparing students at grades 10 12 for employment in child care and or adult care centers This program prepares students for the CDA Child Development Associate credential
