from Britain and elsewhere that contributed bits of themselves to baseball's evolution. Now in this twentieth anniversary edition of his classic work David Block fills in more of baseball's origin story by summarizing the discoveries and advancements he and his fellow historians have accomplished over the past two decades. Other new contributions also appear for the first time in this 2025 edition including a new foreword by John Thorn, the official historian of Major League Baseball, an expanded annotated bibliography of books relating to baseball's origins from before the Civil War, and two new essays from the author: Baseball before We Knew It is a comprehensive, reliable, and readable account of baseball's history before it became America's national pastime.

Designing Trading Strategies and Mechanisms for Electronic Markets Sofia Ceppi, Esther David, Chen Hajaj, Valentin Robu, Ioannis A. Vetsikas, 2017-02-22. This book constitutes revised selected papers from the 17th and 18th International Workshop on Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce AMEC TADA 2015 and 2016 which took place in Istanbul, Turkey in May 2015 and in New York City, USA in July 2016. The 10 papers presented in this volume were carefully reviewed and selected for inclusion in the book. Both workshops aim to present a cross section of the state of the art in automated electronic markets and encourage theoretical and empirical work that deals with both the individual agent level as well as the system level. Given the breadth of research topics in this field, the range of topics addressed in these papers is correspondingly broad. They range from papers that study theoretical issues related to the design of interaction protocols and marketplaces to the design and analysis of automated trading strategies used by individual agents, which are often developed as part of an entry to one of the tracks of the Trading Agents Competition.
