Foundations of Communication Sciences & Disorders Paul T. Fogle, 2008 Full color textbook introducing concepts in communication sciences and disorders. Written in accessible, engaging and caring language, it is rooted in the American Speech Language Hearing Association's Big Nine knowledge and skill areas. Units provide cohesive big picture introductions and conclusions while individual chapters focus on key information in smaller, more detailed packages. Going beyond expectations for an introductory text, it explores the emotional and social effects of disorders to help readers truly understand the profession.

Evaluation and Management of Cleft Lip and Palate David J. Zajac, Linda D. Vallino-Napoli, 2024-12-02 Evaluation and Management of Cleft Lip and Palate: A Developmental Perspective, Second Edition provides fundamental knowledge of cleft palate anomalies and the current state of evidence based practice relative to evaluation and management. The text contains information on the standard of care for children born with craniofacial anomalies from a developmental perspective along with clinical case studies to help facilitate understanding of the material. This graduate level text targets speech language pathology students as well as audiology students, medical students, dental students, and graduate students studying communication disorders. New to the Second Edition: Fresh content on speech research findings; Expanded coverage of early intervention for the preschool child; Focus on information needed by the school based speech language pathologist to guide therapy; Greater emphasis on oral conditions, dental and occlusal that impact speech in the school aged child; Updated content on surgical approaches to correct velopharyngeal dysfunction. Key Features: Well illustrated with clear color images; Concise, practical and evidence based; A developmental focus that provides a better understanding of the nature of craniofacial problems and the timetable for management and treatment; Presents the role of the speech language pathologist in all aspects of care, i.e. before and after surgery, from infancy to adulthood. Disclaimer: please note that some ancillary materials such as quizzes, case studies, and audio files are not included as in the print version of this book.

Dental and Periodontal Tissues: Formation and Regeneration: Current Approaches and Future Challenges Giovanna Orsini, Victor E. Arana-Chavez, Thimios Mitsiadis, 2016-10-07 Sequential and reciprocal interactions between oral epithelial and cranial neural crest derived mesenchymal cells give rise to the teeth and periodontium. Teeth are vital organs containing a rich number of blood vessels and nerve fibers within the dental pulp and periodontium. Teeth are composed of unique and specific collagenous dentin, fibrillar cementum, and non collagenous enamel, highly mineralized extracellular matrices. Alveolar bone is another collagenous hard tissue that supports tooth stability and function through its close interaction with the periodontal ligament. Dental hard tissues are often damaged after infection or traumatic injuries that lead to the partial or complete destruction of the functional dental and supportive tissues. Well established protocols are routinely used in dental clinics for the restoration or replacement of the damaged tooth and alveolar bone areas Recent progress in the fields of cell biology tissue engineering and nanotechnology offers promising opportunities to repair damaged or missing dental tissues Indeed pulp and periodontal tissue regeneration is progressing rapidly with the application of stem cells biodegradable scaffolds and growth factors Furthermore methods that enable partial dental hard tissue repair and regeneration are being evaluated with variable degrees of success However these cell based therapies are still incipient and many issues need to be addressed before any clinical application The understanding of tooth and periodontal tissues formation would be beneficial for improving regenerative attempts in dental clinics In the present e book we have covered the various aspects dealing with dental and periodontal tissues physiology and regeneration in 6 chapters 1 General principles on the use of stem cells for regenerating craniofacial and dental tissues 2 The roles of nerves vessels and stem cell niches in tissue regeneration 3 Dental pulp regeneration and mechanisms of various odontoblast functions 4 Dental root and periodontal physiology pathology and regeneration 5 Physiology and regeneration of the bone using various scaffolds and stem cell populations 6 Physiology pathology and regeneration of enamel using dental epithelial stem cells
