Developments in American Politics 4 Gillian Peele, Christopher J. Bailey, Bruce Cain, B. Guy Peters, 2002-09-06 The long drawn out and heavily politicized presidential election process in 2000 with the winner Republican George W Bush taking a smaller percentage of the popular vote than his Democratic rival raised important issues of legitimacy The September 11 terrorist attacks on New York and Washington posed a major new challenge to the American political system Written by a team of leading authorities and tightly edited to provide an accessible and coherent student text Developments in American Politics 4 assesses the implications of both and the early record of the second Bush in the White House

Wiarda, 2019-03-06 This book offers a region wide overview of the patterns and processes of Latin American history politics society and development It provides a detailed country by country treatment and unique features of all Latin American countries

The Political Development of American Debt Relief Emily Zackin, Chloe N. Thurston, 2024-06-21 This book is about why debt relief was a salient political issue for so long and why it then ceased to be one It is also about the United States constitutional tradition and the contradictions it embodies Tracing the geographic sectoral and racial politics of debt relief over time and examining the roles that social movements interest groups and constitutional interpretation played Emily Zackin and Chloe N Thurston show how the politics of debt relief has interacted with race and other social hierarchies that have conditioned both state action and debtors opportunities to mobilize Although the twentieth and early twenty first century saw the erosion of debt protection history reminds us that Americans once mounted large scale grassroots campaigns for debt relief These activists made radical claims about economic justice and they reshaped constitutional law and the American state

Development Economics in the Twenty-First Century Claudia Sunna, Davide Gualerzi, 2015-12-14 Development Economics has been identified as a homogeneous body of theory since the 1950s concerned both with the study of development issues and with the shaping of more effective policies for less advanced economies Development Economics in the Twenty First Century brings together an international contributor team in order to explore the origins and evolution of development economics This book highlights the different elements of high development theory through a precise reconstruction of the different theoretical approaches that developed between the 1950s and the 1970s These include the theory of balanced and unbalanced growth theory the debate on international trade the concept of dualism dependency theory structuralism and the analysis of poverty and institutions The chapters highlight the relevance and usefulness of these analyses for the contemporary theoretical debate on development issues Comparative perspectives are explored and analysed including those of Keynes Hirschman Krugman and Stiglitz The chapters situate development economics within current debates among economists and historians of economic thought providing a platform for future research This book is suitable for researchers and students with an interest in Development Economics the History of Economic development and the Economics of Developing Countries Annual Register University of Chicago,1894 Global Geopolitical Power and African Political and Economic Institutions John James Quinn,2015-12-30 Global Geopolitical Power and African Political and Economic Institutions When Elephants Fight describes the emergence and nature of the prevailing African political and economic institutions in two periods In the first most countries adopted political and economic institutions that funneled significant levels of political and economic power to the political elites usually through one or no party military political systems inward oriented development policies and or state led and often state owned industrialization In the second period most countries adopted institutions that diluted the overarching political and economic power of ruling elites through the adoption of de jure multiparty electoral systems more outward oriented trade policies and the privatization of many state owned or controlled sectors though significant political and economic power remains in their hands The choices made in each period were consistent with prevailing ideas on governance and development the self interests of political elites and the perceived availability of support or autonomy vis vis domestic regional and international sources of power at the time This book illustrates how these two region wide shifts in prevailing political and economic institutions and practices of Africa can be linked to two prior global geopolitical realignments the end of WWII with the ensuing American and Soviet led bipolar system and the end of the Cold War with American primacy Each period featured changed or newly empowered international and regional leaders with competing national priorities within new intellectual and geopolitical climates altering the opportunities and constraints for African leaders in instituting or maintaining particular political and economic institutions or practices The economic and political institutions of Africa that emerged did so as a result of a complex mix of contending domestic regional and international forces material and intellectual all which were themselves greatly transformed in the wake of these two global geopolitical realignments Economics of Land Degradation and Improvement - A Global Assessment for Sustainable Development Ephraim Nkonya,Alisher Mirzabaev,Joachim von Braun,2015-11-11 This volume deals with land degradation which is occurring in almost all terrestrial biomes and agro ecologies in both low and high income countries and is stretching to about 30% of the total global land area About three billion people reside in these degraded lands However the impact of land degradation is especially severe on livelihoods of the poor who heavily depend on natural resources The annual global cost of land degradation due to land use and cover change LUCC and lower cropland and rangeland productivity is estimated to be about 300 billion USD Sub Saharan Africa SSA accounts for the largest share 22% of the total global cost of land degradation Only about 38% of the cost of land degradation due to LUCC which accounts for 78% of the US 300 billion loss is borne by land users and the remaining share 62% is borne by consumers of ecosystem services off the farm The results in this volume indicate that reversing land degradation trends makes both economic sense and has multiple social and environmental benefits On average one US dollar investment into restoration of degraded land returns five US dollars The findings of the country case studies call for increased investments into the rehabilitation and restoration of degraded lands including through such institutional and policy measures as strengthening community participation for sustainable land management enhancing government effectiveness and rule of law improving access to markets and rural services and securing land tenure The assessment in this volume has been conducted at a time when there is an elevated interest in private land investments and when global efforts to achieve sustainable development objectives have intensified In this regard the results of this volume can contribute significantly to the ongoing policy debate and efforts to design strategies for achieving sustainable development goals and related efforts to address land degradation and halt biodiversity loss
