Early Maps:

Comparative Map History and "the History of Cartography" Matthew H. Edney, 2025-07-10 The apparently centuries old field of the history of cartography was invented after 1950 through incomplete historiographies by leading map historians This monograph uses an empirically grounded analysis of the ways in which early maps have been systematically studied since the early 1800s to offer an innovative account of the practices and institutions of comparative map history in support of Western imperialism and nationalism and of how the field was reconfigured as the core of a newly idealized discipline of the history of cartography

Extracting Spatial Information from Historical Maps Benedikt Budig, 2018-11-23 Historical maps are fascinating documents and a valuable source of information for scientists of various disciplines Many of these maps are available as scanned bitmap images but in order to make them searchable in useful ways a structured representation of the contained information is desirable This book deals with the extraction of spatial information from historical maps This cannot be expected to be solved fully automatically since it involves difficult semantics but is also too tedious to be done manually at scale The methodology used in this book combines the strengths of both computers and humans it describes efficient algorithms to largely automate information extraction tasks and pairs these algorithms with smart user interactions to handle what is not understood by the algorithm The effectiveness of this approach is shown for various kinds of spatial documents from the 16th to the early 20th century
