

Child Developmental Milestones

How a child plays, learns, speaks and acts offers important clues about their development. Developmental milestones are actions and skills most children can do by a certain age. Here are a few important markers to look for as a child grows.

6 Months

- Copies sounds
- Sits without support
- Plays with others, especially parents
- Responds to own name
- Strings vowels together when babbling (ex: "ah," "eh," "oh")

12 Months (1 Year)

- Uses and copies simple gestures (ex: waving "bye bye")
- Responds to simple spoken requests
- Says "mama" and "dada"
- Pulls up to stand

18 Months (1½ Years)

- Plays simple pretend (ex: feeding a doll)
- Points to show others items of interest
- Knows what common items are used for (ex: phone, brush, spoon)
- Says several single words
- Walks alone

2 Years

- Says 2-4 word sentences
- Gets excited around other children
- Follows simple instructions
- Kicks a ball
- Points to named items or pictures

3 Years

- Copies adults and friends (ex: running when others run)
- Converses using 2-3 sentences
- Climbs well
- Plays make-believe
- Shows affection for friends unprompted

4 Years

- Hops and stands on one foot for 2 seconds
- Prefers playing with peers than alone
- Tells stories
- Draws a person with 2-4 body parts
- Plays cooperatively

5 Years

- Tells a short story using full sentences
- Can tell what is real and what is pretend
- Counts 10 or more items
- Draws a person with 6 or more body parts
- Swings and climbs

Wachs,Robert Sheehan,2013-06-29 Our knowledge of the cognitive and social emotional functioning of developmentally disabled infants and preschoolers derives in large part from our assessment of such children This book has been developed to familiarize readers with the characteristics of developmentally disabled children and to introduce to readers aspects of measurement that are of relevance to the assessment of atypical infants and preschoolers The book has been developed with clinicians and prospective clinicians in mind These are individuals who are committed to the care and education of developmentally disabled infants and preschoolers and the families of those children The book has thus been written to provide support for the use of assessment data in planning early intervention programs Of special note in the development of this edited book is that it is divided into four major parts with interrelated chapters in each part The authors of chapters in Parts II and III had access to the chapters in Part I before writing their chapters The summary chapters found in Part IV were similarly written by authors having access to all chapters in Parts I III This approach to the development of an edited book was chosen as a way of ensuring an integration of major concepts throughout the book This process is also a reflection of our belief that assessment is an interdisciplinary process involving the synthesis of a number of diverse interests National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1971 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 The Development of the Infant and Young Child Ronald Stanley Illingworth,1975 The Development of the Infant and Young Child: Normal and Abnormal Ronald Stanley Illingworth,1966 Disease Control Priorities, Third Edition (Volume 8) Donald A. Overview: MELQO UNESCO, UNICEF, World Bank, Brookings Institution (USA). Center for Universal Education, 2017-08-14. The Measuring Early Learning Quality and Outcomes MELQO initiative began in 2014 as part of the global emphasis on early childhood development (ECD). Led by UNESCO, the World Bank, the Center for Universal Education at the Brookings Institution, and UNICEF, the initiative aims to promote feasible, accurate, and useful measurement of children's development and learning at the start of primary school and of the quality of their pre-primary learning environments. Items are designed for children between the ages of 4 and 6 years. Following the premise that many existing tools include similar items, the leading organizations' core team worked with a consortium of experts, non-governmental organizations (NGOs), and multilaterals to build upon current measurement tools to create a common set of items organized into modules for measuring 1) early childhood development and learning, and 2) the quality of pre-primary learning environments. The MELQO core team and experts also collaborated to outline a process for context-specific adaptation of the measurement modules, resulting from lessons learned from field testing in several countries in 2015 and 2016. The modules are designed to be implemented at scale with an emphasis on feasibility for low and middle income countries (LMICs). A key question addressed by MELQO was the balance between a global tool suitable for use everywhere and local priorities and goals for children's development.

Executive function refers to the goal-oriented regulation of one's own thoughts, actions, and emotions. Its importance is attested by its contribution to the development of other cognitive skills, e.g. theory of mind, social abilities, e.g. peer interactions, and academic achievement, e.g. mathematics, and by the consequences of deficits in executive function, which are observed in a wide range of developmental disorders such as attention deficit hyperactivity disorder and autism. Over the last decade, there has been growing interest in the development of executive function, and an expanding body of research has shown that executive function develops rapidly during the preschool years, with adult-level performance being achieved during adolescence or later. This recent work, together with experimental research showing the effects of interventions targeting executive function, has yielded important insights into the neurocognitive processes underlying executive function Given the complexity of the construct of executive function however and the multiplicity of underlying processes there are often inconsistencies in the way that executive function is defined and studied This inconsistency has hampered communication among researchers from various fields This Research Topic is intended to bridge this gap and provide an opportunity for researchers from different perspectives to discuss recent advances in understanding childhood executive function Researchers using various methods including behavioral experiments neuroimaging eye tracking computer simulation observational methods and questionnaires are encouraged to contribute original empirical research In addition to original empirical articles theoretical reviews and opinions perspective articles on promising future directions are welcome We hope that researchers from different areas such as developmental psychology educational psychology experimental psychology neuropsychology neuroscience psychiatry computational science etc will be represented in the Research Topic
