Close Sesame:

Close Sesame Nuruddin Farah, 2006-08-22 Farah's landmark Variations on the Theme of an African Dictatorship trilogy is comprised by the novels Sweet and Sour Milk Sardines and Close Sesame. In this volume the third and final book in the series, the characters are deeply entwined in the waking nightmare of a police state. An old man finds himself poised in mortal combat with an elusive and cunning enemy in an atmosphere where the distinction between public and private justice is always obscured. Close Sesame is a novel that offers an eloquent indictment of the tyrannies committed both under Islamic law and in the name of Socialism. The Observer

Emerging Perspectives on Nuruddin Farah Derek Wright, 2002 The first critical anthology of its kind, this is an in-depth look at Somalia's internationally acclaimed and award-winning novelist Farah, one of Africa's most multilingual and multi-literal writers. Although since his exile in 1974 he has been influenced by many cultural trends from around the world, his writing is still very firmly rooted in the African continent, which he has made his base since 1981.

The Collected Sicilian Folk and Fairy Tales of Giuseppe Pitre Jack Zipes, Joseph Russo, 2013-01-11 This two-volume set collects 300 of the most entertaining and important folk and fairy tales of Giuseppe Pitre, a nineteenth-century Sicilian folklorist whose significance ranks alongside the Brothers Grimm. In stark contrast to the more literary ambitions of the Grimms' tales, Pitre's possess a charming earthy quality that reflects the customs, beliefs, and superstitions of the common people more clearly than any other European folklore collection of the 19th century. Edited, translated, and with a critical introduction by world-renowned folk and fairy tale experts Jack Zipes and Joseph Russo, this is the first collection of Pitre's tales available in English. Carmelo Letterer's illustrations throughout the volume are as lively and vivid as the stories themselves, illuminating the remarkable imagination captured in the tales.

Reading Nuruddin Farah F. Fiona Moolla, 2014 The Somali novelist Nuruddin Farah is one of the most important African writers today. The central question that this book investigates is the relationship between modern identity and the novel as a genre. Nuruddin Farah's novels are shown by Moolla to encompass the history of the novel from the proto-realism of the acclaimed From a Crooked Rib to the modernism of A Naked Needle and the postmodernism of most notably Maps, returning almost full circle with his most recent novel Crossbones. Moolla examines his writing within the framework of Somali society and culture, Islamic traditions, and political contexts, all of which are central themes in his work. She also addresses Farah's engagement with women's lives, his female characters, and identities being at the heart of rather than peripheral to his stories, something that has distinguished him from many other male African writers. The book finally suggests that through his literary negotiation of the central contradiction of modern identity, Farah comes close to constituting a subject who no longer is transcendently homeless but finds a home everywhere, a fitting project for a writer who has been in exile for the greater part of his life. F. Fiona Moolla is a Senior Lecturer in the Faculty of Arts at the University of the Western Cape in South Africa, as well as a freelance writer and published author of short stories.
