This book is intended to augment the problem sets found in any standard algorithms textbook. This book begins with four chapters on background material that most algorithms instructors would like their students to have mastered before setting foot in an algorithms class. The introductory chapters include mathematical induction, complexity notations, recurrence relations, and basic algorithm analysis methods. It provides many problems on basic and advanced data structures including basic data structures, arrays, stack, queue, and linked list, hash tree search, and sorting algorithms. It provides many problems on algorithm design techniques: divide and conquer, dynamic programming, greedy algorithms, graph algorithms, and backtracking algorithms. It is rounded out with a chapter on NP completeness.
