Kate Chopin in the Twenty-First Century Heather Ostman, 2020-12-15 The essays in Kate Chopin in the Twenty-First Century update Chopin scholarship creating pathways both broad and narrow for study in a new century Given Chopin's atypical literary career and her frequent writing about unconventional themes for her time such as divorce infidelity and suicide she may have approved such approaches as the essays here suggest This collection of essays offers readers newer ways of thinking about Chopin's works They break away from the familiar trends of the feminist considerations of her work ranging from her short stories to her lesser known novel At Fault to her best known work The Awakening Part one introduces interdisciplinary themes for reading culture in Chopin including urban living and theatre as a lens for viewing New Orleans's social and class stratifications the importance of music a central interest of Chopin's in her texts and the cultural relevance of Vogue magazine where eighteen of Chopin's stories were first published Part two identifies important and overlapping concerns of religion race class and gender within the contexts of selected short works And part three offers fresh readings of The Awakening using the lens of race as well as the lens of class to reconsider protagonist Edna Pontellier's transformation and her dependency upon the rights of privilege within a specific cultural context Together all of the essays in the collection by both established and newer scholars help to usher Chopin's work into the twenty-first century Awakenings Bernard Koloski, 2009-12 No other American book was so maligned, neglected for so long, and then embraced so quickly and with such enthusiasm as Kate Chopin's 1899 novel The Awakening. For the twelve scholars whose essays make up this collection, reading the novel was a life-changing event. Awakenings explains how, as graduate students and young college instructors, they carried out some of the basic research, thought through some of the critical approaches, and developed some of the present directions for reading, studying, and teaching Kate Chopin: A Foundation Narrative that focuses on what happened a generation ago and why.

Chicorel Index to Short Stories in Anthologies and Collections, 1975 Lost in the Customhouse Jerome Loving, 2005-08 In this spirited challenge to dominant American literary criticism, Jerome Loving extends the traditional period of American literary rebirth to the end of the nineteenth century and argues for the intrinsic value of literature in the face of new historicist and deconstructionist readings. Bucking the trend for prophetic and revisionist interpretations, Loving discusses the major work of the last century's canonized writers as restorative adventures with the self and society. From Washington Irving to Theodore Dreiser, Loving finds the American literary tradition filled with narrators who keep waking up to the central scene of the author's real or imagined life. They travel through a customhouse of the imagination in which the Old World experience of the present is taxed by the New World of the utopian past where life is always cyclical instead of linear and ameliorative. Loving argues that the central literary experience in nineteenth-century America is the puritanical desire for the time before the loss of innocence, that endless chance of coming into experience anew. Lost in the Customhouse begins with a discussion of Irving, Hawthorne, Melville, Poe, Thoreau, and Emerson and finds these seminal Renaissance writers waking up primarily to psychological facts which blossomed into the fiction of a self begotten out of the nothingness of experience. In part 2, Loving shifts his attention to the urbanization of the American imagination and discusses Whitman, Twain, Dickinson, James, Chopin, and Dreiser. Here the dream-driven impulse is more clearly influenced by social history: abolition, women's suffrage, industrialization, and the growth of professionalism. Loving focuses upon the role of the woman who finds herself on the same frontier as her male precursors, with nothing but a carpetbag. That is to say, the American ego. Throughout the study, Loving challenges the notion that American literature is preponderately cultural work. In the epilogue, he packs up his own carpetbag and passes through the European customhouse to find that American writers are more readily perceived as literary geniuses outside of their culture than within it. Kate Chopin's Private Papers Emily Toth, Per Seyersted, 1998-10-22 Toth and Seyersted's well-organized, carefully edited volume makes available all manuscripts and related items from all archival collections. This volume is essential for American literature collections. Choice. An edition of the primarily unpublished papers of Kate Chopin, author of the feminist classic The Awakening. These papers illuminate the growth of Chopin as a writer, reveal the reactions of critics to her work, and settle a number of controversies in Chopin studies. Nineteenth-Century American Literature, Religion, and the Search for Grace Heather Ostman, 2025-12-31

Nineteenth Century American Literature Religion and the Search for Grace explores selected texts by four major American authors Walt Whitman Nathaniel Hawthorne Sojourner Truth and Kate Chopin This monograph presents a nuanced analysis of the relationship between these authors and religion While they critique organized religion and challenge the premise of doctrine and the restrictiveness of religious practice they also depict mercy redemption and renewal beyond church walls offering a lens for considering the American sociopolitical identity In this study Ostman relies on the parables of Jesus as a compelling tool to frame these authors religious visions which drew their sense of hope from loss and brokenness She highlights the remarkable timeline in which the four writers depicted these visions of hope shared during the years leading up to and through the Civil War 1861 1865 At a time when many other authors made comparisons to the Apocalypse Whitman Hawthorne Truth and Chopin evinced visions of hope through new religious interpretations This volume is a valuable resource for postgraduate students and scholars of American literature religious studies and Christian thought

The Nineteenth-century American Short Story A. Robert Lee, 1986-01-01 This collection addresses the key American short story writers Poe Irving Melville Hawthorne Twain Crane Bierce Chopin and James and addresses both the vision and the design of their collective achievement Louisiana Women Janet Allured, Judith F. Gentry, 2009 Moving chronologically from the colonial period to the present this collection of seventeen biographical essays provides a window into the social cultural and geographic milieu of women s lives in the state Within the context of the historical forces that have shaped Louisiana the contributors look at ways in which the women they profile either abided by prevailing gender norms or negotiated new models of behavior for themselves and other women Louisiana Women concludes with an essay that examines women s active responses to problems that emerged in New Orleans after Hurricane Katrina The women whose absorbing life stories are collected here include Marie Therese Coincoin who was born a slave but later became a successful entrepreneur and Oretha Castle Haley civil rights activist and leader of the New Orleans chapter of CORE From such well known figures as author Kate Chopin and Voodoo priestess Marie Laveau to lesser known women such as Cajun musician Cleoma Breaux Falcon this volume reveals a compelling cross section of historical figures The women profiled vary by race class political affiliation and religious persuasion but they all share an unusual grit and determination that allowed them to turn trying circumstances into opportunity Lively yet rigorous these essays introduce readers to the courageous dedicated and inventive women who have been an essential part of Louisiana s history Historical figures included Marie Therese Coincoin The Baroness Pontalba Marie Laveau Sarah Katherine Kate Stone Eliza Jane Nicholson Kate Chopin Grace King Louisa Williams Robinson Her Daughters and Her Granddaughters Clementine Hunter Dorothy Dix True Methodist Women Cleoma Breaux Falcon Caroline Dormon Mary Land Rowena Spencer Oretha Castle Haley Louisiana Women and Hurricane Katrina The Awakening and Selected Short Stories Kate Chopin, 2019-04-18 Annotated by OW Foundation with the biography of by Kate Chopin American author Kate Chopin 1850 1904 wrote two published novels and about a hundred short stories in the 1890s Most of her fiction is set in Louisiana and most of her best known work focuses on the lives of sensitive intelligent women Kate Chopin Missouri History Museum St Louis USA Her short stories were well received in her own time and were published by some of America s most prestigious magazines Vogue the Atlantic Monthly Harper s Young People Youth s Companion and the Century A few stories were syndicated by the American Press Association Her stories appeared also in her two published collections Bayou Folk 1894 and A Night in Acadie 1897 both of which received good reviews from critics across the country Twenty six of her stories are children s stories those published in or submitted to children s magazines or those similar in subject or theme to those that were By the late 1890s Kate Chopin was well known among American readers of magazine fiction Her early novel At Fault 1890 had not been much noticed by the public but The Awakening 1899 was widely condemned Critics called it morbid vulgar and disagreeable Willa Cather who would become a well known twentieth century American author labeled it trite and sordid Some modern scholars have written that the novel was banned at Chopin s hometown library in St Louis but this claim has not been able to be verified although in 1902 the Evanston Illinois Public Library removed The Awakening from its open shelves and the book has been challenged twice in recent years Chopin s third collection of stories to have been called A Vocation and a Voice was for unknown reasons cancelled by the publisher and did not appear as a separate volume until 1991 Chopin s novels were mostly forgotten after her death in 1904 but several of her short stories appeared in an anthology within five years after her death others were reprinted over the years and slowly people again came to read her In the 1930s a Chopin biography appeared which spoke well of her short fiction but dismissed The Awakening as unfortunate However by the 1950s scholars and others recognized that the novel is an insightful and moving work of fiction Such readers set in motion a Kate Chopin revival one of the more remarkable literary revivals in the United States After 1969 when Per Seyersted s biography one sympathetic to The Awakening was published along with Seyersted s edition of her complete works Kate Chopin became known throughout the world She has attracted great attention from scholars and students and her work has been translated into other languages including Albanian Arabic Chinese Czech Danish Dutch French Galician German Hungarian Italian Japanese Korean Malayalam Polish Portuguese Serbian Spanish Swedish Turkish and Vietnamese If you know of a translation into another language would you write to us She is today understood as a classic writer who speaks eloquently to contemporary concerns The Awakening The Storm The Story of an Hour D sir e s Baby A Pair of Silk Stockings A Respectable Woman Ath na se and other stories appear in countless editions and are embraced by people for their sensitive graceful poetic depictions of women s lives

Bitter Tastes Donna M. Campbell, 2016-09 Challenging the conventional understandings of literary naturalism defined primarily through its male writers Donna M Campbell examines the ways in which American women writers wrote naturalistic fiction and redefined its principles for their own purposes Bitter Tastes looks at examples from Edith Wharton Kate Chopin Willa Cather Ellen Glasgow and others and positions their work within the naturalistic canon that arose near the turn of the twentieth century Campbell further places these women writers in a broader context by tracing their relationship to early film which like naturalism claimed the ability to represent elemental social truths through a documentary method Women had a significant presence in early film and constituted 40 percent of scenario writers in many cases they also served as directors and producers Campbell explores the features of naturalism that assumed special prominence in women s writing and early film and how the work of these early naturalists diverged from that of their male counterparts in important ways
