The Cranborne Chase Path Edward R. Griffiths, 1995 Pitt Rivers Mark Bowden, 1991-08-30 Mark Bowden has written an entertaining and thoroughly researched biography of General Augustus Henry Lane Fox Pitt Rivers 1827 1900 The Wiltshire Archaeological and Natural History Magazine , 1885 Trees Beyond the Wood (colour) Ian D.

Rotherham, Christine Handley, Mauro Agnoletti, Tomasz Samojlik, 2013-07-05 Trees Beyond the Wood was written for a conference organised to celebrate twenty years of work since the first major conference on the theme of ancient trees and woodlands held in Sheffield UK It was held almost ten years after the landmark 2003 Working and Walking in the Footsteps of Ghosts event which started to raise issues and challenge assumptions about what is ancient or natural and what is meant by the terms wood or woodland Since then on going work in a range of disciplines across ecology biology landscape history archaeology forestry and nature conservation has continued the process of research and evaluation across the subject area The collection of papers by contributors from across Europe reflects this broad range of interests and disciplines

Landscape, Monuments and Society John Barrett, Richard J. Bradley, Martin T. Green, 1991-02-22 Cranborne Chase in central southern England is the area where British field archaeology developed in its modern form The site of General Pitt Rivers pioneering excavations in the nineteenth century Cranborne Chase also provides a microcosm of virtually all the major types of field monument present in southern England as a whole Much of the archaeological material has fortuitously survived offering the fullest chronological cover of any part of the prehistoric British landscape Martin Green began working in this region in 1968 and was joined by John Barrett and Richard Bradley in 1977 for a fuller programme of survey and excavation that lasted for nearly ten years In this important study they apply some of the questions in prehistory to one of the first regions of the country to be studied in such detail The book is a regional study of long term change in British prehistory and contains a unique collection of data A landmark in the archaeological literature it will be essential reading for students and scholars of British prehistory and social and historical geography and also for all those involved with archaeological methods THE WILTSHIRE Archeological and Natural History MAGAZINE SOCIETY FORMED IN THAT COUNTY, 1885

Hambledon Hill, Dorset, England Roger Mercer, Frances Healy, 2014-02-15 A programme of excavation and survey directed by Roger Mercer between 1974 and 1986 demonstrated that Hambledon was the site of an exceptionally large and diverse complex of earlier Neolithic earthworks including two causewayed enclosures two long barrows and several outworks some of them defensive The abundant cultural material preserved in its ditches and pits provides information about numerous aspects of contemporary society among them conflict feasting the treatment of the human corpse exchange stock management and cereal cultivation The distinct depositional signatures of various parts of the complex reflect their diverse use The scale and manner of individual episodes of construction hint at the levels of organisation and co ordination obtaining in contemporary society Use of the complex and the construction of its various elements were episodic and intermittent spread over 300 400 hundred years and did not entail lasting settlement As well as stone axe heads exchanged from remote sources more abundant grinding equipment and pottery from adjacent regions may point to the areas from which people came to the hill If so it had important links with territories to the west north west and south in other words with land off the Wessex Chalk at the edge of which the complex lies Within the smaller compass of the immediate area of the hill including Cranborne Chase field walking survey suggests that the hill was the main focus of earlier Neolithic activity A complementary relationship with the Chase is indicated by a fairly abrupt diminution of activity on the hill in the late fourth millennium when the massive Dorset cursus and several smaller monuments were built in the Chase Renewed activity on the hill in the late third millennium and early second millennium was a prelude to occupation on and around the hill in the second millennium in the mid to late second millennium which was followed by the construction of a hillfort on the northern spur from the early first millennium Late Iron Age and Romano British activity may reflect the proximity of Hod Hill A small pagan Saxon cemetery may relate to settlement in the Iwerne valley which it overlooks
