Documentary Screens:

Documentary Screens Keith Beattie, 2004-04-16 Documentary productions encompass remarkable representations of surprising realities How do documentaries achieve their ends What types of documentaries are there What factors are implicated in their production Such questions animate this engaging study Documentary Screens is a comprehensive and critical study of the formal features and histories of central categories of documentary film and television Among the categories examined are autobiographical indigenous and ethnographic documentary compilation films direct cinema and cinema verite and television documentary journalism The book also considers recent so called popular factual entertainment and the future of documentary film television and new media This provocative and accessible analysis situates wide ranging examples from each category within the larger material forces which impact on documentary form and content The important connection between form content and context explored in the book constitutes a new and lively documentary studies approach to documentary representation

Crafting Contemporary Documentaries and Docuseries for Global Screens Phoebe Hart, 2024-01-08 This book explores the industrial and personal challenges faced by filmmakers in bringing the current worldwide craze for documentary films and series to screens small and large Utilizing a number of case studies drawn from in depth interviews with acclaimed documentary directors producers and screenwriters from around the world Phoebe Hart offers a thematic analysis to reveal the risks and opportunities for practitioners Hart examines these themes in the context of current scholarship to provide insight into the modes and methods of making factual screen content as she engages with the documentary form and the marking of it acquisition of mastery and inspiration and specific rituals and habits of practice From the unique vantage point of being a pracademic that is being both a successful documentary filmmaker and a recognized screen researcher and teacher Hart ultimately argues for greater support of filmmakers and pursuit of a deeper understanding of creative processes

China on Video Paola Voci, 2010-06-10 China On Video is the first in depth study that examines smaller screen realities and the important role they play not only in the fast changing Chinese mediascape but also more broadly in the practice of experimental and non mainstream cinema At the crossroads of several disciplines film media new media media anthropology visual arts contemporary China area studies and cultural studies this book reveals the existence of a creative humorous but also socially and politically critical China on video which locates itself outside of the intellectual discourse surrounding both auteur cinema and digital art By describing smaller screen movies moviemaking and viewing as light realities Voci points to their insignificant weight in terms of production costs distribution size profit gains intellectual or artistic ambitions but also their deep meaning in defining an alternative way of seeing and understanding the world The author proposes that lightness is a concept that can usefully be deployed to describe the moving image beyond the specificity of recent new media developments and which can in fact help us rethink previous cinematic practices in broad terms both spatially and temporally

Fashioning History R. Berkhofer, 2008-12-08 This book offers historians and aspiring historians a learned absorbing and comprehensive overview of current fashions of method interpretation and meaning in the context of postmodernism that has washed over the historical profession in the last two decades Watching the World Thomas Austin, 2013-07-19 Screen documentary has experienced a marked rise in visibility and popularity in recent years What are the reasons for the so called boom in documentaries at the cinema How has television documentary met the challenge of new formats And how do audiences engage with documentaries on screen Watching the world extends the reach of documentary studies by investigating recent instances of screen documentary and the uses made of them by audiences The book focuses on the interfaces between textual mechanisms promotional tactics and audiences viewing strategies Key topics of inquiry are film and televisual form truth claims and issues of trust the pleasures politics and the ethics of documentary Case studies include Capturing the Friedmans tre et Avoir Paradise Lost Touching the Void and wildlife documentaries on television This compelling and accessible book will be of interest to both students and fans of documentary Screen ,2005 Release Print ,2004 Documentary Storytelling Sheila Curran Bernard, 2011 Now updated with new case studies and conversations with award winning filmmakers Documentary Storytelling offers advice for producers directors editors and cinematographers seeking to make ethical and effective nonfiction films Screens and Galleries in English Churches Francis Bond, 1908 Roodscreens and Roodlofts Frederick Bligh Bond, Bede Camm, 1909 In the Supreme Court of the State of New York , Court of Appeals: New York: 436 , The Educational Screen ,1926 The figures painted on the panels of Devonshire screens Frederick Bligh Bond, Bede Camm, 1909 International Review of Educational Cinematography ,1930 Educational Screen ,1930 Camera Craft ,1924 Black Manhood on the Silent Screen Gerald R. Butters, 2002 In early twentieth century motion picture houses offensive stereotypes of African Americans were as predictable as they were prevalent Watermelon eating chicken thievery savages with uncontrollable appetites Sambo and Zip Coon were all representations associated with African American people Most of these caricatures were rendered by whites in blackface Few people realize that from 1915 through 1929 a number of African American film directors worked diligently to counter such racist definitions of black manhood found in films like D W Griffith s The Birth of a Nation the 1915 epic that glorified the Ku Klux Klan In the wake of the film s phenomenal success African American filmmakers sought to defend and redefine black manhood through motion pictures Gerald Butters s comprehensive study of the African American cinematic vision in silent film concentrates on works largely ignored by most contemporary film scholars African American produced and directed films and white independent productions of all black features Using these race movies to explore the construction of masculine identity and the use of race in popular culture he separates cinematic myth from historical reality the myth of the Euro American controlled cinematic portrayal of black men versus the actual black male experience Through intense archival research Butters reconstructs many lost films expanding the discussion of race and representation beyond the debate about good and bad imagery to explore the construction of masculine identity and the use of race as device in the context of Western popular culture He particularly examines the filmmaking of Oscar Micheaux the most prolific and controversial of all African American silent film directors and creator of the recently rediscovered Within Our Gates the legendary film that exposed a virtual litany of white abuses toward blacks Black Manhood on the Silent Screen is unique in that it takes contemporary and original film theory applies it to the distinctive body of African American independent films in the silent era and relates the meaning of these films to larger political social and intellectual events in American society By showing how both white and black men have defined their own sense of manhood through cinema it examines the intersection of race and gender in the movies and offers a deft interweaving of film theory American history and film history
