What Role for EU Competition Law in Regulated Industries? Reflections on the Orange Polska Case Sandra Marco Colino, 2020 This paper focuses on the application of EU competition law to regulated network industries It does so by discussing the 2015 ruling of the General Court in the Orange Polska case which confirmed the imposition of a fine of over EUR 127 million on the Polish incumbent for engaging in a constructive refusal to supply contrary to Article 102 TFEU The case demonstrates the complexities stemming from the concurrent intervention of national regulators national competition authorities and the European Commission The paper assesses the merits of the broad powers vested in the Commission to take action in cases where sectoral regulation and national competition law have already applied and where the anticompetitive conduct has already come to an end

The Economics of Competition in the Transportation Industries John Robert Meyer, 1959

Competition Policy and Resource Utilization David Oluwadare Adetoro, 2016-04-26 This book examines the extent to which competition law and policy could be employed to promote the efficient allocation of resources in resource dependent developing economies Its background inquiry into competition policy and the analysis of economic problems of resource dependent developing economies inspired by global competition trends in the United States and Europe provide an indispensable framework for understanding competition policy and current attitudes to regulation in a liberalised developing economy The book provides a systematic exposition of some of the problems associated with resource dependent economies and the implications for competition and what kinds of conduct in which firms can and cannot engage In addition to building on basic competition and antitrust concepts it offers insights into some prevailing problems which include the issue of resource curse rent seeking corruption and abusive business practices among others Their examination here is aligned with scrutiny of the characteristics of developing countries in contrast to developed countries Nigeria is taken as a proxy for resource dependent developing countries The book also determines whether competition law and policy could be used as a tool for addressing competition problems that may exist in resource dependent developing countries This book provides meaningful material for both undergraduate and graduate business school programs In addition it will be of great interest to lawyers historians economists sociologists and policy makers in both government and business who wish to understand competition issues in a clear and rigorous way in developing economies

The Economic Regulation of Airports Peter Forsyth, David W. Gillen, Andreas Knorr, Otto G. Mayer, David Starkie, 2017-09-29 This tour d horizon book reviews airport regulation and competition in different regions of the world and contrasts different policy perspectives Organized in four parts the first three examine in turn Australasia North America and Europe while the last section looks at the institutional reforms that have taken place in these regions The book covers the regulation of airports and competition in different regions as well as privatization policy the interaction between airports and airlines and regional economic impacts It also examines the linkages between governance structures and forms of regulation The book s global sweep embraces all the large aviation markets bringing together the ideas and challenges of academic economists airlines airport managers consultants and government regulators As well as looking at different methods degrees and paradigms of regulation it also spells out the stress points in a way that makes essential reading for airport operators airline operations staff as well as academic economists concerned with transport studies It also offers interesting reading and important lessons for those concerned with regulation of the utility industries such as telecommunications water and power generation and distribution where infrastructure can be subject to natural monopoly characteristics and where firms competing in downstream markets are dependent on the investment and operational strategies of the upstream infrastructure operator

Purchasing-framework for Competition Law Analysis & Mechanisms to Address Overly-broad Trademark Usage

Bruce Kilpatrick, Pierre Kobel, 2025-03-29 This volume of the LIDC contributions covers a competition law assessment of buying alliances as well as the topic of overbroad registrations and trademark clogging It contains a series of national reports prepared to assist the International Rapporteurs in reporting to the LIDC Congress in Gothenburg in September 2023 The first part focuses on how competition law assesses coordinated conduct by buyers such as joint purchasing buying alliances Different jurisdictions have taken a range of approaches to this issue and the reports summarise the current situation explore the boundary between legitimate and infringing conduct and consider the extent to which further guidance from competition authorities and or courts is required in order to enable companies to distinguish clearly between legitimate and efficient conduct and infringements of competition law The conduct of buyers in their interactions with suppliers and markets when purchasing goods and services has recently come under increased scrutiny from a competition law perspective and guidance has been issued by the European Commission and by some national competition authorities At the same time there has been an increase in enforcement activity in the area of buyers cartels and purchase price fixing such as the Ethylene and Car Battery Recycling cases and this is explored in the reports The second part focuses on intellectual property and in particular what mechanisms exist to avoid over broad trademarks and address concerns that the trademark registers are clogged Academics practitioners and some regulators have raised concerns regarding potential for uncertainty regarding the scope of protection and increased costs for third parties wishing to register new trademarks The reports focus on the bad faith standard in the long running Sky v SkyKick case and the effectiveness of mechanisms to tackle this issue by preventing or removing overbroad trademarks and ensuring the integrity of the registration system
