The Oxford Handbook of Silent Cinema Rob King, Charlie Keil, 2024 The Oxford Handbook of Silent Cinema is a collection of new scholarship that investigates the first decades of motion picture history from diverse perspectives and methodologies Featuring over thirty essays by leading scholars in the field the Handbook offers a comprehensive overview of cinema's earliest years while also illuminating how cinema derived strength from competing cultural forms becoming in the process the most influential mass medium of the early twentieth century

Global Tabloid Martin Conboy, Scott Eldridge II, 2021-04-18 This edited collection brings together a range of contemporary expertise to discuss the development and impact of tabloid news around the world In thirteen chapters Global Tabloid covers tabloid developments in Asia Africa the Americas Australia and both Eastern and Western Europe It presents innovative research from eighteen expert contributors and editors who explore tabloidization as a phenomenon and tabloids as a news form With an awareness of historical dynamics where tabloids played a role in national news media systems it brings the debates around tabloids as a cultural force up to date The book addresses important questions about the contemporary nature of popular culture the challenges it faces in the digital era and its impact on a political world dominated by tabloid values Going beyond national borders to consider global developments the editors and contributors explore how the tabloids have permeated media culture more generally and how they are adapting to an increasingly digitalized media sphere This internationally focused critical study is a valuable resource for students and researchers in journalism media and cultural studies

Media and Revolution

Jeremy D. Popkin,1995 Jeffrey Wasserstrom taking the opposite view argues that the extensive attention paid to the effects of worldwide television coverage of the demonstrations in Tiananmen Square masks the fact that the Chinese students were essentially reworking protest rituals rooted in their country s history and culture long before the modern media era Owen Johnson in his essay on the Czechoslovak press during the Velvet Revolution likewise downplays the role of the media The remaining contributors Jeffrey Brooks Jack R Censer Tim Harris Thomas C Leonard Stephen R Mackinnon Michael Mendle Jeffery A Smith Jonathan Sperber Mark W Summers focus on pamphlet literature newspapers political cartoons and the modern electronic media Together their wide ranging views form a balanced and perceptive examination of the impact of the media on the making of history

Periodicals Index ,1982 Which Degree Guide ,2004 The Nation on Screen Enric Castelló,Alexander Dhoest,Hugh

O'Donnell,2009 oeBut we can still rise now runs a line of Scotland TM s unofficial national anthem Flower of Scotland oeand be the nation again who defeated the English King Edward II in 1314 at the Battle of Bannockburn These short lines tell us much about the concept of the nation Firstly the pronoun of the nation is owe Secondly nationhood remains aspirational for some while it is entirely taken for granted for others Thirdly nations often trace their origins back to an implausibly dim and distant past Finally it points to the fundamentally discursive nature of the nation the nation appears not as something which simply is but as something which can be called into existence through talk official documents official and unofficial national anthems ceremonies and parades monuments and statuary press coverage and increasingly television This book which arose out of a conference held in Tarragona in 2007 focuses on the complex discourses of the nation to be found in the television systems of twelve different countries examining how these circulate in fiction in news and documentary including re enactment formats and in entertainment programmes adverts and the coverage of large scale sporting events The nation which emerges is everywhere and nowhere talked about endlessly but never finally grasped repeatedly staged and re enacted but lacking a foundational script In short it is a site of struggle The stakes are high since the nation when mobilised is a force to be reckoned with and the on going attempts to define it are many varied and often highly creative This book details many such events from the high drama of war reporting to the self mocking irony of ten second commercial spots

Transnational Television History Andreas Fickers,Catherine Johnson,2013-09-13 Although television has developed into a major agent of the transnational and global flow of information and entertainment television historiography and scholarship largely remains a national endeavour partly due to the fact that television has been understood as a tool for the creation of national identity But the breaking of the quasi monopoly of public service broadcasters all over Europe in the 1980s has changed the television landscape and cross border television channels with the help of satellite and the Internet have catapulted the relatively closed television nations into the universe of globalized media channels At least this is the picture painted by the popular meta narratives of European television history Transnational Television History asks us to re evaluate the function of television as a medium of nation building in its formative years and to reassess the historical narrative that insists that European television only became transnational with the emergence of more commercial services and new technologies from the 1980s It also questions some common assumptions in television historiography by offering some alternative perspectives on the complex processes of transnational circulation of television technology professionals programmes and aesthetics This book was originally published as a special issue of Media History The Lancet ,1904

Columbia University Studies in the Social Sciences ,1907 Social Democracy and Population Alvan Alonzo Tenney,1907 Looks at the biological aspects of population movements to bring them into relationship with other factors of social dynamics
