in the figure of the Royal Arms herein, and in Fig. 417, which is as fine a piece of heraldic design as could be wished.

The crest of Yonge of Colbrooke, Devonshire, is "a demi-sea-unicorn argent, armed gules, finned or," and the crest of Tynte (Kemeys-Tynte of Cefn Mably and Halswell) is "on a mount vert, a unicorn sejant argent, armed and crined or."

The unicorn will be found in the arms of Styleman, quartered by Le Strange, and Swanzy.

The Griffin or Gryphon.—Though in the popular mind any heraldic monster is generically termed a griffin, the griffin has, nevertheless, very marked and distinct peculiarities. It is one of the hybrid monstrosities which heraldry is so fond of, and is formed by the body, hind-legs, and tail of a lion conjoined to the head and claws of an eagle, the latter acting as its forepaws (Figs. 418–420). It has the wings of the eagle, which are never represented close, but it also has ears, and this, by the way, should be noted, because herein is the only distinction between a griffin's head and an eagle's head when the rest of the body is not represented (Fig. 421). Though but very seldom so met with, it is occasionally found proper, by which description is meant that the plumage is of the brown colour of the eagle, the rest of the body being the natural colour of the lion. The griffin is frequently found with its beak and fore-legs of a different colour from its body,

A Complete Guide to Heraldry Arthur Charles Fox-Davies,2015-06-02 Excerpt from A Complete Guide to Heraldry Vol 1 Too frequently it is the custom to regard the study of the science of Armory as that of a subject which has passed beyond the limits of practical politics Heraldry has been termed the shorthand of History but nevertheless the study of that shorthand has been approached too often as if it were but the study of a dead language The result has been that too much faith has been placed in the works of older writers whose dicta have been accepted as both unquestionably correct at the date they wrote and as a consequence equally binding at the present day Since the Boke of St Albans was written into the heraldic portion of which the author managed to compress an unconscionable amount of rubbish books and treatises on the subject of Armory have issued from the press in a constant succession A few of them stand a head and shoulders above the remainder The said remainder have already sunk into oblivion Such a book as Guillim must of necessity rank in the forefront of any armorial bibliography but any one seeking to judge the Armory of the present day by the standards and ethics adopted by that writer would find himself making mistake after mistake and led hopelessly astray There can be very little doubt that the Display of Heraldry is an accurate representation of the laws of Armory which governed the use of Arms at the date the book was written and it correctly puts forward the opinions which were then accepted concerning the past history of the science There are two points however which must be borne in mind The first is that the critical desire for accuracy which fortunately seems to have been the keynote of research during the nineteenth century has produced students of Armory whose investigations into facts have swept away the fables the myths and the falsehood which had collected around the ancient science and which in their preposterous assertions had earned for Armory a ridicule a contempt and a disbelief which the science itself and moreover the active practice of the science had never at any time warranted or deserved About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com
