G. Wodehouse mutate from hack to genius Was Oscar Wilde really down and out in Paris Was Brideshead really Madresfield These and other excursions into literary or social history have developed out of Mark Girouard's spare time enthusiasms as diversions from his main occupation as an architectural historian In nine essays he calls attention to points that have not been noticed before corrects fallacies that have gotten into general circulation suggests identifies redates refutes or pours a little cold water on unjustified romanticisms Three further essays sample another enthusiasm his own family background and introduce characters such as the dwarf who had to stand on a bench to address the South African Parliament the colonial governor who fell in love with his niece and the dowager duchess with whom he spent his childhood on the edge of the park at Chatsworth An architectural historian fascinated not merely by buildings but still more by the ways of life which they supported and by the people whom they served The Telegraph
