Creating Deviance An Interactionist Approach:

Creating Deviance Daniel L. Dotter, 2004-08-13 Creating Deviance is a basic text introductory text for deviance studies. Dotter identifies the convergences between social deviance, the interactionist tradition, and the construction of cultural meaning. He provides an in-depth analysis of the significant theoretical contribution of interactionism to the study of deviant behavior and crime, examining the works of George Herbert Mead, Herbert Blumer, Howard S. Becker, Edwin Shur, and Norman Denzin among others. Dotter applies this framework to a number of specific scenarios such as the persistence of gender inequality, the formation of youth subcultures, the contemporary politicization of race in the criminal justice system, and media-generated public representations of stigmatization. His text will be a valuable resource in any introductory course to the study of deviance and crime, the sociology of deviance and social control, and introductory criminology courses.

Community Planning for the Elderly from an Organizational, Political, and Interactionist Perspective Carroll L. Estes, 1972 Making Sense of Society Ian Marsh, 1996 This major new textbook has been specially written to meet the needs of a new generation of students who may be studying sociology in a variety of different levels on different types of courses at different types of institutions but all need to understand the fundamentals of sociological thought to make sense of the society around them. The student oriented approach which has been adopted encourages the reader to constantly think for themselves rather than learn by rote and the book has been carefully designed to make the material contained as interactive and as accessible as possible. An Historical Analysis of the Community Approach to Delinquency Prevention Virginia Nelson Jeronimus, 1978 Self and Society John P. Hewitt, David Shulman, 2011 A clearly written introduction to the symbolic interactionist perspective in social psychology and in sociology as a whole. The text provides several examples. Sociology Thomas J. Sullivan, 2004 This book celebrates the achievements of Alice Guy Blach. 1873-1968 the first woman motion picture director and producer. From 1896 to 1907 she created films for Gaumont in Paris. In 1907 she moved to the United States and established her own film company Solax. From 1914 to 1920 Guy Blach was an independent director for a number of film companies. Despite her immensely productive and creative career Guy Blach's indispensable contribution to film history has been overlooked. She entered the world of filmmaking at its nascent stage when films were seen primarily as a medium in the service of science or as an adjunct to selling cameras. Working with Gaumont cameramen and cameras and the new technical advances for the projection of film, she became one of the film pioneers ushering in the new era of motion pictures as a narrative form. Written by cinema history experts and curators, this handsome volume brings to light a critical new mass of Guy Blach's film oeuvre in an effort to restore her to her rightful place in film history.

This second edition contains an update of facts, statistical figures, and terminology, as well as a new foreword and preface.
