Understanding the Dynamics of Language and Learning
(New York: Teachers College Press, 1997)

Chapter 1: Dialogic Instruction: When Recitation Becomes Conversation

Ms. Lindsay is writing on the board, trying hard to keep up with John, one of her students in this ninth-grade class, who has just read aloud his plot summary for a chapter from Mildred Taylor's Roll of Thunder, Hear My Cry.

"I had a lot of trouble," says Ms. Lindsay, "getting everything down [on the board], and I think I missed the part about trying to boycott." She reads from the board: "'and tries to organize a boycott.' Did I get everything down, John, that you said?"

"What about the guy who didn't really think these kids were a pest?" replies John.

"Yeah, okay," says Ms. Lindsay. "What's his name? Do you remember?" John shakes his head, indicating he can't remember.

Without waiting to be called on, Alicia, another student, volunteers, "Wasn't it Turner?"

Looking around the class, Ms. Lindsay says, "Was it Turner?"

Several students say, "Yes."

"Okay," continues Ms. Lindsay, "so Mr. Turner resisted white help. Why? Why would he want to keep shopping at that terrible store?"

Dynamics Of Language Learning:

Motivational Dynamics in Language Learning Zoltán Dörnyei, Alastair Henry, Peter D. MacIntyre, 2014-10-01 This landmark volume offers a collection of conceptual papers and data based research studies that investigate the dynamics of language learning motivation from a complex dynamic systems perspective The chapters seek to answer the question of how we can understand motivation if we perceive it as a continuously changing and evolving entity rather than a fixed learner trait

Dynamics of Language Processing and the Consequences for New Language Learning Kinsey Bice, 2018 Learning a new language as an adult is difficult and many fail to acquire high proficiency Individual differences in late language learning have been partially but not fully accounted for by factors such as working memory and native language L1 performance An overlooked observation in research that attempts to characterize successful language learning is that bilinguals consistently outperform monolinguals in acquiring new languages When bilinguals are learning a new language they can draw on their past experience That experience encompasses both language specific skills such as managing the dynamics of cross language interaction as well as domain general learning skills that may enable language regulation and control In contrast for monolingual learners there is only the opportunity to transfer existing L1 knowledge and general cognitive skills The hypothesis tested in this dissertation is that previous language experience and individual differences guide language processing in the established language s and the trajectory and outcome of new language learning The first study presented in the dissertation examined systematic variation in language processing across bilinguals two languages to discern the locus es of variation and whether they were similar for both languages or were fundamentally different in the native and second language The results demonstrated that there is meaningful variation in proficiency in both the L1 and L2 that is related to the patterns of brain responses in both languages but there were also effects of domain general biases toward different aspects of language and working memory The second study tracked the trajectory and outcome of language learning in behavioral and neural measures as a function of language experience While the behavioral measures revealed similar trajectories and performance at test the neural measures revealed different mechanisms that produced the behavioral effects and different trajectories for explicit and implicit aspects of learning Together the results from both studies reveal qualitative similarities in language processing but also qualitative differences in new language learning that result from different experiences with previous language learning

Information Structure and the Dynamics of Language Acquisition Christine Dimroth, Marianne Starren, 2003-09-18 The papers in this volume focus on the impact of information structure on language acquisition thereby taking different linguistic approaches into account They start from an empirical point of view and examine data from natural first and second language acquisition which cover a wide range of varieties from early learner language to native speaker production and from gesture to Creole prototypes The central theme is the interplay between principles of information structure and linguistic structure and its impact on the functioning and development of the learner's system. The papers examine language internal explanatory factors and in particular the communicative and structural forces that push and shape the acquisition process and its outcome. On the theoretical level the approach adopted appeals both to formal and communicative constraints on a learner's language in use. Two empirical domains provide a testing ground for the respective weight of grammatical versus functional determinants in the acquisition process: 1 the expression of finiteness and scope relations at the utterance level and 2 the expression of anaphoric relations at the discourse level.

The Dynamics of Language Processes Hans-Wilhelm Dechert, 1994 Usage-Based Dynamics in Second Language Development Wander Lowie, Marije Michel, Audrey Rouse-Malpat, Merel Keijzer, Rasmus Steinkrauss, 2020-07-14 This book honours the contribution of Marjolijn Verspoor to the development and implementation of dynamic usage based DUB approaches in second language L2 research and pedagogy. With chapters written by renowned experts in the field, the book addresses the dynamics of language learning and language teaching from a usage based perspective. The book contains both theory and empirical work; the initial theoretical chapters present cutting edge thinking in relation to both the scope of DUB theory and its applications, providing conceptual perspectives from cognitive grammar and linguistics thinking for speaking TFS and Complex Dynamic Systems Theory (CDST) approaches united by their shared underpinnings of language as a dynamic system of conventionalized routines. The second half of the volume showcases state of the art methodologies to study dynamic trajectories of language learning, empirical investigations into the above mentioned theoretical concepts and innovative classroom implementations of DUB language pedagogy.

The Palgrave Handbook of Motivation for Language Learning Martin Lamb, Kata Csizér, Alastair Henry, Stephen Ryan, 2020-01-11 This handbook offers an authoritative one stop reference work for the dynamic and expanding field of language learning motivation. The 32 chapters have been specially commissioned from the field's most influential researchers and writers. Together they present a compelling picture of the motivations people have for learning languages, the diverse ways we can research motivation and the implications for promoting and sustaining learners' motivation. The first section outlines the main theoretical approaches to language learning motivation; the next section presents ways in which motivation theory has been applied in practice; the third section showcases examples of motivation research in particular contexts and with particular types of language learners; and the final section describes the exciting directions that contemporary research is taking, promising important new insights for academics and practitioners alike.

The Dynamics of Language Learning National Conference on Research in English, 1987 Focusing on future directions for English and reading research, the papers presented in this book examine the complex interplay of skills, processes and classroom conditions that influence the development of children's competence in reading, writing and the language arts. The titles and authors of the essays are as follows: 1 Reading and Writing Relations: Assumptions and Directions James Flood and Diane Lapp 2 The Cognitive Base of

Second Language Learning Motivation in a European Context: The Case of Hungary Kata Csizér, 2021-01-04 This book provides an overview of second language L2 motivation research in a specific European context Hungary which has proved to offer an important laboratory for such research as a number of major political changes over the past 30 years have created a changing background for L2 learning in an increasingly globalized world The book provides an overview of theoretical research on L2 motivation together with detailed information on large scale L2 motivation studies in Hungary Further it presents a meta analysis of the most important investigations and qualitative data on teachers views regarding success in L2 learning In turn the interdisciplinary nature of L2 motivation is taken into account and relevant antecedent constructs to L2 motivation are investigated Lastly the book outlines possible future directions for L2 motivation research

The Palgrave Handbook of Economics and Language Shlomo Weber, Victor Ginsburgh, 2026-02-07 This revised and updated handbook brings together methodological theoretical and empirical studies in the economics of language With contributions from leading researchers it examines the impact of linguistic diversity on economic outcomes and public policies The interdependence of language and culture is highlighted through an analysis of the evolution of different languages and the economic consequences of linguistic diversity as well as the impact of language on consumer behavior and the creation of gendered economic structures Particularly attention is given to the impact of languages on macroeconomics including the relationship between language and trade and language and migrations The challenge of globalization to minority languages and the growth of multilingual societies is also discussed alongside the specific dynamics between economics and language at a regional level It also addresses new developments in LLM large language models This book offers a detailed and original look at the role language plays within international and local economic systems It will be of interest to students and researchers interested in the economics of language

Dynamics of a Social Language Learning Community Jo Mynard, Michael Burke, Daniel Hooper, Bethan Kushida, Phoebe Lyon, Ross Sampson, Phillip Taw, 2020-08-07 This book provides an in depth exploration of psychological phenomena affecting language learning within a social learning space Drawing on the literature from identity in second language learning communities of practice and learner beliefs in conjunction with other individual difference factors it uncovers perceptions and assumptions that language learners have of the space and how they affect their relationship with it and the people within it Readers will gain a greater understanding of how psychological phenomena shape a space and how a learning space can contribute to a wider learning ecology This book will appeal to researchers interested in language learning beyond the classroom and psychological aspects of language acquisition as well as to practitioners and professionals who are supporting learners outside the classroom

Linguistic Attractors David L. Cooper, 1999-01-01 The interdisciplinary linguistic attractor model portrays language processing as linked sequences of fractal sets and examines the changing dynamics of such sets for individuals as well as the speech community they comprise Its motivation stems from human anatomic constraints and several artificial neural network approaches It uses general computation theory to 1 demonstrate the capacity of Cantor like fractal sets to perform as Turing Machines 2 better distinguish between models that simply match outputs emulation and models that match both outputs and internal dynamics simulation and 3 relate language processing to essential computation steps executed in parallel Measure and information theory highlight the key variables driving linguistic dynamics while catastrophe and game theory help predict the possible topologies of language change It introduces techniques to isolate and measure attractors and to interpret their stability and relative content within a system Important results include the capability to distinguish the sequence of related sound changes and to make point to point comparisons of different texts using common metrics Other techniques allow quantifiable ambiguity landscapes illustrating the forces that propel different languages in different directions

Educational Research and Innovation Languages in a Global World Learning for Better Cultural Understanding OECD, 2012-04-24 This book examines the links between globalisation and the way we teach and learn languages

Profiling Learner Language as a Dynamic System ZhaoHong Han, 2019-07-10 This volume sheds empirical light on Complex Dynamic Systems Theory CDST by providing five sets of analyses of two longitudinal interactional datasets involving two dyads exchanging emails over one academic semester The collective study on CDST is the first of its kind in that it delves into multiple subsystems of learner language traversing the domains of morphosyntax semantics pragmatics and discourse The data analyses expose the dynamics of the interactional process offering evidence of core characteristics of complex dynamic systems sensitive dependence on initial conditions interconnectedness of subsystems the emergence of attractor states over time and variation in and between the individuals Together the analyses each alone an engaging description capture fine grained patterns of change over time More importantly they demonstrate the impact of the ecosystem on individuals use of language The book offers critical insights relevant to CDST researchers theorists and empiricists alike as well as to teachers seeking a nuanced understanding of the learning benefits of computer mediated interactional activities

Opening Dialogue Martin Nystrand,1997-01-01 This work aims to reorientate our thinking about how younger adolescents and their teachers talking together compose shared understandings that contribute to individual students learning Nystrand and his colleagues argue that people learn by participating in communicative exchanges

Physical Language Learning Spaces in the Digital Age Felix A. Kronenberg,2024-02-08 How do we intentionally design physical environments for language learning and teaching How can we build spaces that are inclusive accessible safe and equitable While the Covid 19 pandemic has advanced notions of online education it has also revealed the benefits and affordances of human to human interaction in physical learning spaces This book explores the design of physical spaces intended for language learning specifically From residential learning spaces to active classrooms from social and experiential spaces to zoom rooms and language centers from mobile community based learning to hybrid makerspaces language learners and educators have more choices than ever regarding their possible learning environments Changing pedagogies and new technologies provide ever more alternatives to the normalized technology of the classroom With a focus on creating new awareness of the affordances and benefits of physical spaces as active agents in the language learning and teaching processes this book takes a practical approach to introduce readers without any prior knowledge of design or architecture to the topic As language learning spaces need to consider stakeholders from diverse cultures Felix Kronenberg provides examples from language centers around the world including Asia Europe and the United States Readers will learn how to conceptualize and create supportive resilient flexible inclusive accessible affordable sustainable and safe physical learning spaces The book is an interdisciplinary introduction to this emerging field drawing from research in disciplines such as architecture learning spaces design second language acquisition pedagogy history and sociology

Dynamics of Language Contact Michael G. Clyne,2003-03-20 The past decade has seen an unprecedented growth in the study of language contact associated partly with the linguistic effects of globalization and increased migration all over the world Written by a leading expert in the field this much needed account brings together disparate findings to examine the dynamics of contact between languages in an immigrant context Using data from a wide range of languages including German Dutch Hungarian Italian Spanish Croatian and Vietnamese Michael Clyne discusses the dynamics of their contact with English Clyne analyzes how and why these languages change in an immigration country like Australia and asks why some languages survive longer than others The book contains useful comparisons between immigrant vintages generations and between bilinguals and trilinguals An outstanding contribution to the study of language contact this book will be welcomed by students and researchers in linguistics bilingualism the sociology of language and education

The Top Books of the Year Dynamics Of Language Learning The year 2023 has witnessed a noteworthy surge in literary brilliance, with numerous engrossing novels captivating the hearts of readers worldwide. Lets delve into the realm of popular books, exploring the captivating narratives that have charmed audiences this year. The Must-Read : Colleen Hoover's "It Ends with Us" This poignant tale of love, loss, and resilience has captivated readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover masterfully weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can prevail. Uncover the Best : Taylor Jenkins Reids "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This spellbinding historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reids captivating storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Discover the Magic : Delia Owens "Where the Crawdads Sing" This evocative coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens crafts a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, entrancing readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These top-selling novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of captivating stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a masterful and suspenseful novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
