Ea Divining Women:

All Hands, 1963 Diving and Asphyxia Robert Elsner, Brett Gooden, 1983-07-21 This book concerns the comparative physiological adaptations of vertebrate animals especially mammals to cessation of breathing Canal Record, 1919

The Panama Canal Record, 1919 Panama Canal Record, 1919 Diving Seals & Meditating Yogis Robert Elsner, 2015-04-21 The comparative physiology of seemingly disparate organisms often serves as a surprising pathway to biological enlightenment How appropriate then that Robert Elsner sheds new light on the remarkable physiology of diving seals through comparison with members of our own species on quests toward enlightenment meditating yogis As Elsner reveals survival in extreme conditions such as those faced by seals is often not about running for cover or coming up for air but rather about working within the confines of an environment and suppressing normal bodily function Animals in this withdrawn state display reduced resting metabolic rates and are temporarily less dependent upon customary levels of oxygen For diving seals creatures especially well adapted to prolonged submergence in the ocean's cold depths such periods of rest lengthen dive endurance But while human divers share modest brief adjustments of suppressed metabolism with diving seals it is the practiced response achieved during deep meditation that is characterized by metabolic rates well below normal levels sometimes even approaching those of non-exercising diving seals And the comparison does not end here hibernating animals infants during birth near-drowning victims and clams at low tide all also display similarly reduced metabolisms By investigating these states and the regulatory functions that help maintain them across a range of species Elsner offers suggestive insight into the linked biology of survival and well-being Official Aquatics, Synchronized Swimming, Winter Sports & Outing Activities Guide, 1951 Mammalian Thermogenesis Lucien Girardier, 2012-12-06 an attempt to rationalize these terminological and conceptual difficulties we have considered the origins of mammalian heat production from two different points of view The scheme depicted in Fig 1 1 illustrates the fate of energy in the body as seen by the nutritionist After allowing for losses of energy in faeces and urine the metabolizable energy obtained from food is utilized for maintaining and increasing body energy content maintenance external work growth and production The transformation of metabolizable energy into these forms of net energy also involves inevitable energy losses in the form of heat thermic energy Similarly maintaining homeothermy in cold environments involves shivering and non-shivering thermogenesis NST and the energy costs of assimilating nutrients and retaining net energy results in obligatory heat losses due to diet-induced thermogenesis DIT This obligatory DIT is mainly due to the energy cost of protein and fat synthesis but in addition to this there is an adaptive component of DIT that helps maintain body energy content i.e. body weight by dissipating the metabolizable energy consumed in excess of the requirements for maintenance growth and production In Fig 1 2 we have converted this nutritionist's scheme A into one that A B r I I Production Growth I I External work I I I I Essential energy expenditure NET BASAL Obligatory 1 I ENERGY Maintenance HEAT heat I FASTING at BMR productlpn for t ROC
