Cardiovascular Care in Patients With HIV Merle Myerson, Marshall J. Glesby, 2019-03-15 This book provides the most current overview of the evaluation and management of cardiovascular disease in people living with HIV/AIDS. The text assesses the risk factors associated with cardiovascular disease in HIV/AIDS patients and explores the most cutting edge ways to diagnose and treat the specific diseases that are most common for people living with HIV. This text takes a well rounded multidisciplinary approach that considers infectious disease and HIV specialists who may have little familiarity with the diagnosis and management of manifest CVD or risk factors as well as those in remote areas where providers may have little or no infrastructure to support optimal care for their patients. The text also serves cardiovascular specialists who may not have the expertise in HIV care to meet the unique needs of these patients. Cardiovascular Care for the Patient Living with HIV is the ultimate resource for not only all infectious disease and HIV specialists but also for cardiologists, neurologists, vascular surgeons, general practitioners, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, and all other medical professionals who care for people living with HIV.

Health Outcomes in a Foreign Land Bernard Kwabi-Addo, 2017-06-27 This stimulating volume uses multiple lenses to analyze the complex causes of health disparities affecting minorities in particular African Americans and explains how this knowledge can be used to reduce their destructive effects. Pinpointing genetic, non-genetic, and epigenetic factors underlying health conditions common to the population including heart disease, hypertension, diabetes, and cancer, the author traces intricate links among these factors in the current environmental and social context. The section on non-genetic factors in health disparities such as social determinants and health behaviors adds depth to the ongoing discourse on public health and health policy objectives. And the chapters on gene-environment interactions outline the vast potential for developing new multidisciplinary frontiers in shrinking health inequities and personalizing care. Included in the coverage: The African diaspora and disease-specific disparities; The genetic basis to health disparities; The role of epigenetics; Economic factors and health; Psychological issues and how they affect disparities; Gene-environment interactions in health disparities; Race: a biological or social concept. Compelling and accessible, Health Outcomes in a Foreign Land will challenge and inspire medical students, epidemiologists, public health professionals, biomedical research scientists, and social scientists to go farther in their work. A wider audience would include policymakers, government officials, nurses, physicians, lawyers, economists, community outreach investigators, and interested general readers.
