Early Herbals:

A Catalogue of Early Herbals Karl Becher (M.D.), Arnold Carl Kleb, 1925 Early Modern Herbals and the Book Trade Sarah Neville, 2022-01-06 Between 1525 and 1640 a remarkable phenomenon occurred in the world of print England saw the production of more than two dozen editions identified by their imprints or by contemporaries as herbals Sarah Neville explains how this genre grew from a series of tiny anonymous octavos to authoritative folio tomes with thousands of woodcuts and how these curious works quickly became valuable commodities within a competitive print marketplace Designed to serve readers across the social spectrum these rich material artifacts represented both a profitable investment for publishers and an opportunity for authors to establish their credibility as botanists Highlighting the shifting contingencies and regulations surrounding herbals and English printing during the sixteenth and early seventeenth century the book argues that the construction of scientific authority in Renaissance England was inextricably tied up with the circumstances governing print This title is also available as Open Access on Cambridge Core A Catalogue of Early Herbals Arnold C. Klebs, 1925 Early English magic and medicine Charles Joseph Singer, 1920 The Voynich Manuscript M. E. D'Imperio, 1978 In spite of all the papers that others have written about the manuscript there is no complete survey of all the approaches ideas background information and analytic studies that have accumulated over the nearly fifty five years since the manuscript was discovered by Wilfrid M Voynich in 1912 This report pulls together all the information the author could obtain from all the sources she has examined and to present it in an orderly fashion The resulting survey will provide a firm basis upon which other students may build their work whether they seek to decipher the text or simply to learn more about the problem An Illustrated History of the Herbals Frank J. Anderson, 1997 This book is a fascinating and beautifully illustrated history of herbal texts throughout the world from ancient cultures through the seventeenth century An herbal by definition is a book that is descriptive of plants and the term did not come into use until the sixteenth century The production of herbals is closely connected to the history of early printing and offers the finest examples of this art and craft However the earliest records of ancient Egypt Sumer and China all reflect a tradition of works of botanicals and their medicinal properties long before printing The author's survey begins with a work called De materia medica written in the first century which is extant and as the final authority on pharmacy for 1500 years is the most important herbal ever written The study of herbals offers a rich history of the culture and beliefs from the folklore and science of medieval and classical worlds Herbals, their origin and evolution Agnes Robertson Arber, 1912 A Catalogue of Early Herbals Mostly from the Well-known Library of Dr. Karl Becher, with an Introduction by Dr. Arnold C.
