Early Islamic Conquests:

The Early Islamic Conquests Fred Mcgraw Donner,2014-07-14 In this contribution to the ongoing debate on the nature and causes of the Islamic conquests in Syria and Iraq during the sixth and seventh centuries Fred Donner argues for a necessary distinction between the causes of the conquests the causes of their success and the causes of the subsequent Arab migrations to the Fertile Crescent Originally published in 1982 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Byzantium and the Early Islamic Conquests Walter E. Kaegi,1995-03-30 This is a study of how and why the Byzantine Empire lost many of its most valuable provinces to Islamic Arab conquerors in the seventh century provinces which included Syria Palestine Mesopotamia and Armenia It investigates conditions on the eve of those conquests mistakes in Byzantine policy toward the Arabs the course of the military campaigns and the problem of local official and civilian collaboration with the Muslims It also seeks to explain how after terrible losses the Byzantine government achieved some intellectual rationalisation of its disasters and began the complex process of transforming and adapting its fiscal and military institutions and political controls in order to prevent further disintegration

The Early Muslim Conquest of Syria Hamada Hassanein,2019-09-23 This book narrates the battles conquests and diplomatic activities of the early Muslim fighters in Syria and Iraq vis vis their Byzantine and Sasanian counterparts It is the first English translation of one of the earliest Arabic sources on the early Muslim expansion entitled Fut al Sh m The Conquests of Syria The translation is based on the Arabic original composed by a Muslim author Mu ammad al Azd who died in the late 8th or early 9th century C E A scientific introduction to al Azd s work is also included covering the life of the author the textual tradition of the work as well as a short summary of the text s train of thought The source narrates the major historical events during the early Muslim conquests in a region that covers today s Lebanon Israel Palestinian Territories Jordan Syria Turkey and Iraq in the 7th century C E Among these events are the major battles against the Byzantines such as the Battles of Ajn dayn and al Yarm k the conquests of important cities including Damascus Jerusalem and Caesarea and the diplomatic initiatives between the Byzantines and the early Muslims The narrative abounds with history and Islamic theological content As the first translation into a European language this volume will be of interest to a wide range of readership including Muslim and Christian theologians historians Islamicists Byzantinists Syrologists and Arabic linguists

The Expansion of the Early Islamic State Fred M. Donner,2017-05-15 This volume presents a selection of the key studies in which leading scholars since the beginning of the 20th century attempt to explain the phenomenally rapid expansion of the early Islamic state during the 7th century CE The articles debate the causes for the conquest movement or expansion the reasons for its success the nature of the movement itself the impact the expansion had on the countries affected by it and the complex questions surrounding the sources on which historians have constructed their views of the expansion and the reliability or lack of it of those sources No articles devoted to the actual conquest of a given locality are included hundreds exist but a fairly extensive bibliography lists many of the more important contributions in this genre The editor's introduction addresses the phenomenon of the expansion and how scholars have approached and grappled with it

The Early Islamic Conquests Fred McGraw Donner, 2005      The Great Arab Conquests Hugh Kennedy, 2007 The success of the Muslim conquests was the product of a unique set of circumstances and the preaching of a simple new monotheistic faith There were many features of Islam that would have made it approachable to Christians and Jews It had a Prophet a Holy Book established forms of prayer dietary and family laws Abraham and Jesus were both great prophets in the Muslim tradition From the very beginning Islam established itself as a new faith but it was one that claimed to perfect rather than destroy the older monotheistic ones It had none of the strangeness of say Buddhism These similarities this common tradition must have aided and encouraged conversion In the final analysis the success of the Muslim conquest was a result of the unstable and impoverished nature of the whole post Roman world into which they came the hardiness and self reliance of the Bedouin warriors and the inspiration and open quality of the new religion of Islam Book jacket      The Arabic Historical Tradition & the Early Islamic Conquests Boaz Shoshan, 2015-09-07 The early Arab conquests pose a considerable challenge to modern day historians The earliest historical written tradition emerges only after the second half of the eighth century over one hundred years removed from the events it contends to describe and was undoubtedly influenced by the motives and interpretations of its authors Indeed when speaking or writing about the past fact was not the only nor even the prime concern of Muslims of old The Arabic Historic Tradition and the Early Islamic Conquests presents a thorough examination of Arabic narratives on the early Islamic conquests It uncovers the influence of contemporary ideology examining recurring fictive motifs and evaluating the reasons behind their use Folklore and tribal traditions are evident throughout the narratives which aimed to promote individual tribal and regional fame through describing military prowess in the battles for the spread of Islam Common tropes are encountered across the materials which all serve a central theme the moral superiority of the Muslims which destined them to victory in God's plan Offering a key to the state of mind and agenda of early Muslim writers this critical reading of Arabic texts would be of great interest to students and scholars of early Arabic History and Literature as well as a general resource for Middle Eastern History      Byzantium and the Early Islamic Conquests Walter E. Kaegi, 1995-03-30 This is a study of how and why the Byzantine Empire lost many of its most valuable provinces to Islamic Arab conquerors in the seventh century provinces which included Syria Palestine Mesopotamia and Armenia It investigates conditions on the eve of those conquests mistakes in Byzantine policy toward the Arabs the course of the military campaigns and the problem of local official and civilian collaboration with the Muslims It also seeks to explain how after terrible losses

the Byzantine government achieved some intellectual rationalisation of its disasters and began the complex process of transforming and adapting its fiscal and military institutions and political controls in order to prevent further disintegration

In God's Path Robert G. Hoyland, 2014-10-01 A groundbreaking work that delivers a fresh account of the Arab conquests incorporating the latest research in Late Antique history

Byzantium and the Early Islamic Conquests Walter E Kaegi, Jr., 2014-05-14 This book examines how the Byzantine Empire came to lose so much of its territory to Islamic conquerors in the seventh century

Byzantium and the Early Islamic Conquests Walter E Kaegi, Jr., 2014-05-18 This book examines how the Byzantine Empire came to lose so much of its territory to Islamic conquerors in the seventh century

Arab-Byzantine Relations in Early Islamic Times Michael Bonner, 2017-09-08 The Byzantine Empire was the Islamic commonwealth's first and most stubborn adversary. For many centuries it loomed large in Islamic diplomacy, military operations and commerce as well as in Islamic representations of the world in general. Moreover, the ways in which early Muslims and Byzantines perceived one another, both polemically and otherwise, afterwards proved decisive for the mutual perceptions between the Islamic world and Christian Western Europe. For these and other reasons, Arab-Byzantine relations have been a major concern of modern scholarship on early Islam for well over a century. Arab-Byzantine Relations in Early Islamic Times presents some of the most important of these contributions, organized according to the following themes: war and diplomacy, frontiers and military organization, polemics and images of the other, exchange and convergence, and martyrdom, jihad and holy war. An introductory essay discusses these themes within the contexts of early Islamic society, politics and economy.

The First Islamic Conquest of Aelia (Islamic Jerusalem) Othman Ismael Al-Tel, 2003

The Stated Motivations for the Early Islamic Expansion (622-641) Ayman S. Ibrahim, 2018 Were Muslim believers motivated by religious zeal to proclaim Islam to the non-Muslims? Consequently, was Islam spread by the sword? This is a question that has crucial implications today. The Stated Motivations for the Early Islamic Expansion extensively analyzes the earliest Arabic Muslim sources to answer these and other questions.

The Great Islamic Conquests AD 632-750 David Nicolle, 2012-06-20 A leading expert in Islamic history explores the rise and power of the ancient Islamic Empire, examining not only their military conquests but also the political and cultural impact that they had on the lands they conquered.

Violence in Early Islam Marco Demichelis, 2021-03-25 The concept of jihad holds a prominent place in Islamic thought and history. Beyond its spiritual meanings, the term has historically been associated with the sweeping Arab Believers' conquests of the 7th century BCE. But given advances in our understanding of the historicity and chronology of the Qur'an and early Islamic texts, is it correct to identify jihad and Islam with violent conquest? In this book, Marco Demichelis explores the history of the concept of jihad in the early proto-Islamic centuries (7th-8th). Deploying an interdisciplinary approach which combines the hermeneutical study of the famous Verses of the Sword within the Qur'an itself with historical writing by Islamic chroniclers as well as non-Islamic sources, numismatics, epigraphical and architectural evidence, the book questions the relationship between the religious concept of jihad and the conquests The book argues that Christian Byzantine Foederati forces who previously fought against the Persians may have had a formative effect on the later emergence of more bellicose rhetoric In so doing it calls into question assumptions about warlike attitudes inherent within Islamic doctrine and reveals a more nuanced and complicated history of religious violence in the pre proto and early Islamic period

The Islamic Conquests In Africa Gew Social Sciences Group,2024-07-19 This is the second volume in a trilogy dedicated to the early expansion of Islam The first was about Asia the second is about Africa and the third is about Europe The driving idea behind this study is to examine the rise and expansion of Islamic empires from the 7th century onwards focusing on their military conquests strategic alliances and cultural advancements The authors aim to show the transformative impact of Islam on the Arabian Peninsula and beyond Specifically the study seeks to highlight the key factors that contributed to the unification of Arabian tribes under Islam the innovative military tactics and strategic alliances used by early Muslim armies and the significant role of trade routes and diplomatic efforts in facilitating the rapid expansion and consolidation of Islamic rule across regions like Persia Byzantium and North Africa This book s research background focuses on the rise and expansion of Islamic empires from the 7th century onwards highlighting their military conquests strategic alliances and cultural advancements The approach is well motivated as it emphasizes Islam s transformative impact on the Arabian Peninsula and beyond The research methodology proposed in this study includes an analysis of historical events military strategies and the role of trade routes in facilitating the spread of Islam The tasks involve understanding the early Islamic conquests and their impact on regions like Persia Byzantium and North Africa The performance achieved by these methods supports their goals by demonstrating the successful expansion and consolidation of Islamic rule

Arab Conquests and Early Islamic Historiography Ryan J. Lynch, 2019-11-14 Winner of the 2021 Southeast Regional Middle East and Islamic Studies Society Book Prize Of the available sources for Islamic history between the seventh and eighth centuries CE few are of greater importance than al Baladhuri s Kitab Futuh al buldan The Book of the Conquest of Lands Written in Arabic by a ninth century Muslim scholar working at the court of the Abbasid caliphs the Futuh s content covers many important matters at the beginning of Islamic history It informs its audience of the major events of the early Islamic conquests the settlement of Muslims in the conquered territories and their experiences therein and the origins and development of the early Islamic state Questions over the text s construction purpose and reception however have largely been ignored in current scholarship This is despite both the text s important historical material and its crucial early date of creation It has become commonplace for researchers to turn to the Futuh for information on a specific location or topic but to ignore the grander and in many ways more straightforward questions over the text s creation and limitations This book looks to correct these gaps in knowledge by investigating the context form construction content and early reception history of al Baladhuri s text
