Abstract: A new concept for Personal Communication System that achieves the ultimate object of all communications systems to enable anyone to communicate anywhere with anyone else anywhere is proposed. This concept offers a personal area or network with subscriber access systems for both wired and radio systems. Its three principal concepts are: (1) assigning a personal identity such as a Personal Telecommunication Number for an individual, and the network traces the person's routing; (2) serving a fixed and portable units for radio and wired, and (3) serving advanced functions such as the network playing the role of secretary. System architecture and some problems are also presented.

1. Introduction

Recently the information-oriented society has developed, and the social and cultural structure has changed to a great extent. A great variety of people's behavior in the communication world, caused by advanced services that enable us to communicate conveniently with anyone anywhere in space and time is manifesting. In order to realize this type of user-oriented service, many kinds of systems are being studied or developed, such as mobile, automobile radio systems (MRS, IRS), and advanced cordless systems (MPT, MTS, Telepoint, MCOM, MPCS, etc.).

In international standardization, CCITT standardized in 1981 as the preliminary stage discussing a mobile radio and fixed approaches in MRS, IRS and MPT, etc. In CCITT 86G, 86H, 86K, 1, and 86X, several subjects are discussed, for example, numbering, network functions, signaling, and so on (1)-(4).

There are many problems involved in offering economic personal communication services to every user in the mobile subscribers' business world. Recently, color individual numbering plans have appeared for radio systems in cable systems. The present work is a study on how efficiently such a numbering plan can be used as an individual number of subscribers and a radio area number must be less than about 100-10000. The radio area number also is considered to realize area number portability terminals that are accompanied by large costs can be set wherever possible. Furthermore, in order to become a sufficient number of service areas, a large number of radio systems has to be set, and the more systems are set, the diversified the user's behavior of the mobile radio is. The number of service areas must also be set and other factors will increase the number of subscribers in the area. As a result, the existing system configuration methods will agree very difficult problems in extending the service area.

For this reason we propose an advanced personal communication system in which such functions as location registration and tracing, mobility are handled by public communication networks. Configuration and mobile number developments can be realized by using public communication networks facilities as transport systems. The proposed system enables area portability and a portable telephone service in a large and efficient and convenient capacity.

2. Service Concept

- (1) Personal communication numbers can be portable by using Personal Telecommunication Numbers (PTN).
- (2) Costless mobility terminals with both wired and radio systems for service areas including very small areas and large public areas.
- (3) Mobility services according to user's choice and purpose.

Radio service design for service in MRS. The proposed system requires a mobile and fully stationary telephone sets, both the radio terminals. Services are available anywhere, such as home, office, or outdoors. The mobility should be less than or equal to that of cable systems. A portable and fully portable radio sets
