digitalSTS Janet Vertesi, David Ribes, 2019-05-07 New perspectives on digital scholarship that speak to today's computational realities. Scholars across the humanities, social sciences, and information sciences are grappling with how best to study virtual environments, use computational tools in their research, and engage audiences with their results. Classic work in science and technology studies (STS) has played a central role in how these fields analyze digital technologies, but many of its key examples do not speak to today's computational realities. This groundbreaking collection brings together a world-class group of contributors to refresh the canon for contemporary digital scholarship. In twenty-five pioneering and incisive essays, this unique digital field guide offers innovative new approaches to digital scholarship: the design of digital tools and objects and the deployment of critically grounded technologies for analysis and discovery. Contributors cover a broad range of topics, including software development, hackathons, digitized objects, diversity in the tech sector, and distributed scientific collaborations. They discuss methodological considerations of social networks and data analysis, design projects that can translate STS concepts into durable scientific work, and much more. Featuring a concise introduction by Janet Vertesi and David Ribes and accompanied by an interactive microsite, this book provides new perspectives on digital scholarship that will shape the agenda for tomorrow's generation of STS researchers and practitioners.

Pragmatics of Accents Gaëlle Planchenault, Livia Poljak, 2021-10-15 What impact do accents have on our lives as we interact with one another? Are accents more than simple sets of phonetic features that allow us to differentiate from one dialect variety or style to the other? What power relationships are at work when we speak with what those around us perceive as an accent? In the 12 chapters of this volume, an international group of sociolinguists, applied linguists, anthropologists, and scholars in media studies develop an innovative approach that we describe as the pragmatics of accents. In this volume, we present a variety of languages and go beyond the traditional structural description of accents. From ideologies in national contexts to L2 education to accent discrimination in the media and the workplace, this volume embraces a new perspective that focuses on the use of accents as symbolic resources and emphasizes the importance of context in the human experience of accents.

Speak First, Fix Later: The Fear-Free Method to Think, Speak & Sound Natural in English Ranjot Singh Chahal, 2025-12-27 Most people don't struggle with English because they lack grammar or vocabulary. They struggle because they are afraid to speak. They translate in their head. They wait for perfect sentences. They worry about mistakes, accent, and judgment. And because of that, they stay silent. Speak First, Fix Later breaks this cycle. This book shows you a simple truth: You don't become confident after speaking well. You become confident by speaking first. Inside this practical, fear-free guide, you will learn how to understand why knowing English does not automatically mean speaking English. Stop translating in your head and start thinking directly in English. Speak confidently, even when your grammar is not perfect. Focus on pronunciation and accent that truly matter and ignore what doesn't. Break fear, hesitation, shyness, and mental blocks while speaking. Build natural spoken English through simple daily habits Move step by step from hesitation to real life fluency This book is not about memorizing grammar rules or complex theories It is about using English the way it is actually spoken naturally imperfectly and confidently If you are tired of learning English but not speaking it this book will completely change how you approach the language Thinking with an Accent Pooja Rangan,2023-02-21 A free ebook version of this title is available through Luminos University of California Press s Open Access publishing program Visit www.luminosoa.org to learn more Everyone speaks with an accent but what is an accent Thinking with an Accent introduces accent as a powerfully coded yet underexplored mode of perception that includes looking listening acting reading and thinking This volume convenes scholars of media literature education law language and sound to theorize accent as an object of inquiry an interdisciplinary method and an embodied practice Accent does more than just denote identity from algorithmic bias and corporate pedagogy to migratory poetics and the politics of comparison accent mediates global economies of discrimination and desire Accents happen between bodies and media They negotiate power and invite attunement These essays invite the reader to think with an accent to practice a dialogical and multimodal inquiry that can yield transformative modalities of knowledge action and care

Accents of English: Volume 1 John C. Wells,1982-04-08 The first comprehensive study of how English is pronounced by different people in different places It provides an integrated and unified framework for existing scholarly treatments of regional forms of speech and makes many original contributions to the field Language Policies and the Politics of Language Practices Massimiliano Spotti, Jos Swanenberg, Jan Blommaert,2022-04-03 This edited volume consists of chapters celebrating the career of scholar Sjaak Kroon who has produced ground breaking work in the field of ethnography of education immigrant minority language teaching and language politics The chapters cover the use of immigrant minority languages in education and the development of policies at all levels and across the globe in this sometimes over policed field It particularly focuses on language policy analysis in which both the top down institutional and the bottom up ethnographic dimensions are blended and in which globalization is the main macro perspective The chapters describe sensitive tools for investigating unravelling and understanding the grey space connecting formal language policies to informal politics and practices of language on the ground The Spectator ,1916 A weekly review of politics literature theology and art
