Character Under Construction:

Leadership Under Construction Darrell H. Young, Joseph P. Hester, 2004-03 Every construction project requires both contractors concepts and sub contractors applications Leadership Under Construction assumes the role of contractor by laying a foundation that aspiring leaders can build upon throughout a life long journey of leadership self development It is sure to become a self development tool that supports students and teachers in building a conceptual foundation for leadership The book is intended to be a teacher facilitation workbook where ownership is transferred from author to teacher and from teacher to student The material is a catalyst of thought knowledge and understanding where teachers assist students in applying the principles and concepts of leadership and bring continuous attention to how they are connected Authors Young and Hester encourage student thought in the following three fundamental concepts Strategic thinking and performance Continuous improvement and measurement Relationship building and cultures These concepts best picture how the authors view the global requirements of a solid leadership foundation When discussing leadership it has become increasingly difficult to confine the concepts and their interconnections to a few words or phrases As a result it is easy to understand how there would be disagreement and misunderstanding about what a leader is and does and exactly how a person becomes a leader In this book the authors hope to gain agreement on these issues and promote student unity on the leadership concepts that are worth following They contend that this objective can be accomplished by linking thought with purpose purpose with performance and performance with relationships

The World Told and the World Shown Eija Ventola, Arsenio Jesús Moya Guijarro, 2009-10-29 Positioned within the field of linguistics and multisemiotic discourse analysis the theme of this book is the multifaceted interaction between text and image in different discourse genres and it offers critical views on how we talk and show our experience of the world around us
