Charles E. Burchfield Nancy Weekly, Charles Ephraim Burchfield, 1993-01-01 Dissatisfied with painting realistically, Burchfield returned in the 1940s to his fanciful style of 1917 and expanded old ideas even the actual paintings themselves into larger and more meaningful interpretations of nature. A lifetime of spiritual soul searching and self-doubt, the recurrence of serious illnesses, and the steady persuasiveness of his wife Bertha led to Burchfield's eventual adoption of the Lutheran faith in 1943-44. Autobiographical romantic landscapes of this period contain his symbols for man's place in the universal scheme.

Charles Burchfield Charles Burchfield, 2010 Charles Burchfield 1893-1967 was an innovative visionary of American modernism, a watercolor painter who infused his landscapes of upstate New York and Ohio and scenes of small town industrialization with pulsing line and crackling fluid color. He was also an accomplished writer who kept extensive journals and published several important essays during his lifetime. Burchfield's early watercolors were often strongly expressionistic, projecting a buoyant spirituality; he reached a critical juncture around 1920 when he turned to modernist pictorial strategies to express a severe geometry of houses, factories, and barren trees with skies traversed by stylized smoke. After moving to Buffalo in 1921, he became a founder of the Regionalist movement, but he returned to the dynamic expressionism of his youth in the 1940s, as he told a friend: "It is not that I am trying to escape real life, but that the realm of fantasy offers the true solution of truly evaluating an experience." Published for DC Moore Gallery's survey exhibition and coinciding with the Whitney Museum's 2010 retrospective, this volume presents a career-wide selection of watercolors and drawings, many of which are drawn from private collections and have never or very rarely been exhibited. The images are complemented by four autobiographical essays spanning the years 1928 to 1965, which provide an intriguing window into the artist's complex personality.
