Defiant Pose Stewart Home, 2016 Redefining Propaganda in Modern China James Farley, Matthew D. Johnson, 2020-11-19 Usage of the political keyword propaganda by the Chinese Communist Party has changed and expanded over time These changes have been masked by strong continuities spanning periods in the history of the People's Republic of China from the Mao Zedong era 1949-76 to the new era of Xi Jinping 2012 present Redefining Propaganda in Modern China builds on the work of earlier scholars to revisit the central issue of how propaganda has been understood within the Communist Party system What did propaganda mean across successive eras What were its institutions and functions What were its main techniques and themes What can we learn about popular consciousness as a result In answering these questions the contributors to this volume draw on a range of historical cultural studies propaganda studies and comparative politics approaches Their work captures the sweep of propaganda its appearance in everyday life as well as during extraordinary moments of mobilization and demobilization and its systematic continuities and discontinuities from the perspective of policy makers bureaucratic functionaries and artists More localized and granular case studies are balanced against deep readings and cross-cutting interpretive essays which place the history of the People's Republic of China within broader temporal and comparative frames Addressing a vital aspect of Chinese Communist Party authority this book is meant to provide a timely and comprehensive update on what propaganda has meant ideologically operationally aesthetically and in terms of social experience
