The Constitutional Structure of Europe's Area of 'Freedom, Security and Justice' and the Right to Justification Ester Herlin-Karnell,2019-04-18 This book explores the implications of freedom as a non domination oriented view for understanding EU security regulation and its constitutional implications At a time when the European borders are under pressure and with the refugee and migration crisis which escalated in 2015 the idea of exploring a constitutional theory for the Area of Freedom Security and Justice AFSJ might seem to be a utopian project This appears especially true in the light of the increased threat of terrorism in Europe and on a global scale and where the expanding EU security agenda is often advanced through the administrative law path in contrast to the constitutional trajectory Add to this the prolonged financial crisis which continues to cast a long shadow on the future development of EU integration and which suggests that Europe needs to re invent itself beyond the sphere of economics Therefore it is precisely because of the current uncertainties regarding the progress of the EU and the constitutional law project that a constitutional take on the AFSJ is of particular importance The book investigates the meaning of non domination and the idea of justice and justification in the area of EU security regulation In doing so it focuses on the development of an AFSJ what it means and why it represents a fascinating example of contemporary constitutional law with interacting layers of security regulation human rights law and transnational legal theory at its core
