Morgan, 2023-12-21 Tucked away in the archives of the Museum for Transport and Technology in Berlin is an old photograph of a Hawker Hurricane on public display The image must have been taken before the night of 23 24 November 1943 when the museum and the greater part of its collection including the Hurricane were destroyed in a RAF bombing raid The aircraft in the photograph bore a squadron commander s pennant under the cockpit had broken propellor blades and carried the squadron markings PA A on its fuselage as well as the serial number W9147 Intrigued by what he had seen the picture launched the author on an investigation that uncovered an incredible story of wartime treachery and betrayal That tale concerns one man in particular Augustin P eu il Also known to his family and friends as Gustav P eu il it was Augustin who had been the Hurricane s last RAF pilot A 26 year old aviator from Czechoslovakia on first appearances P eu il had fled his homeland after Nazi Germany took control and created the Reich Protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia part of Hitler s Greater Germany Having initially traveled to Poland he then escaped to France and from there ultimately reached Britain where he joined the RAF Volunteer Reserve Augustin P eu il seemed to be just like many of the men who had arrived in the UK to continue the fight against Hitler He appeared to be settled and even married an English girl in July 1941 But on 18 September of that year he was posted missing believed killed while undertaking a training flight off the coast of Sunderland and Hartlepool P eu il s body was never recovered and nothing more was heard of him His young wife received a war widow s pension he was just another sad statistic of the war However Augustin P eu il was far from dead Having landed the stolen Hurricane near Bastogne in Belgium he was treated by local people as a downed Allied pilot sheltered and then passed into the care of the local Resistance group P eu il repaid their trust by handing himself into the Gestapo and revealing all he knew The Gestapo s response was swift and brutal For P eu il this marked the start of a new career as an undercover agent for the Gestapo principally in Czechoslovakia As the author reveals how he ended up serving Hitler s Third Reich and betraying his homeland his adopted country and a new wife is a story that while strange is completely true It is also one that ended with his death Found guilty of High Treason P eu il was hanged by the Czech authorities in April 1947 Retreat & Rearguard: Dunkirk 1940 Jerry Murland, 2016-03-31 The dramatic story of how a quarter million men were evacuated from the coast of France and how the British Expeditionary Force fought on This book part of the Retreat and Rearguard series covers the actions of the BEF during the retreat from the Dyle Line to the evacuation points of Dunkirk Boulogne Calais Saint Valery en Caux and finally the Cherbourg Peninsula Some of the engagements are relatively well known Cassell the Arras counter attack and the notorious Le Paradis SS massacre but the author has unearthed many less known engagements from the long and painful withdrawal While the main Dunkirk evacuation from the port and beaches was over by early June elements of the BEF fought on until June 21 In relating those often heroic actions this book catches the atmosphere of desperate defiance that typified this never to be forgotten period
