Language, Education, and Ideology Timothy Reagan, 2002-11-30 Language educators in general and foreign language educators in particular need to be aware of and sensitive to issues related to the interface and nexus of language education and ideology This work places foreign language education in its social context as well as applying critical pedagogy to the foreign language classroom to help educators become more aware of the social political historical and economic contexts in which they work and which effect the classroom setting Research and scholarship in critical pedagogy is impressive extensive and powerful and has had significant impact on nearly every aspect of contemporary educational scholarship One area in which critical theory and critical pedagogy have been slow to have a noticeable effect however is that of language education especially foreign language education Further while a number of important works address issues of critical literacy there are no general works presenting critical perspectives on language and language issues targeting classroom teachers and other educators This work offers a broad and comprehensive overview of language and linguistic issues that emerge in the classroom context from a critical philosophical perspective The central focus is on the nexus of issues of language education and ideology as the title suggests and specific topics covered will include language and power linguistic purism the marginalization of second language education in the United States the phenomenon of ideological monolingualism in the United States the hierarchy of the less commonly taught languages both in terms of its etiology and the ideological and hegemonic functions this hierarchy serves nonmainstream language varieties in school settings issues of linguistic legitimacy in the classroom context the politics and ideological context of bilingual education in the United States language policy both as a tool for oppression and as a means of empowerment and finally the need for critical language awareness on the part of all educators Paperbound Books in Print ,1992 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2006 Teaching Languages in College Wilga M. Rivers,1992 Compiled under the editorship of Wilga M Rivers Professor Emerita of Harvard University this book is a call by 22 of the foremost researchers in the field for serious rethinking and strengthening of the foreign language program within the college curriculum It recognizes that languages have come of age as mature partners with literature and linguistic studies in our university departments and that language and culture programs must reflect that new maturity Back cover
